CONGRESSMEN OPEN GALION INQUIRY

2 MORE JOIN LIST OF CITED IN RED INQUIRY

Ring Lardner Jr., Lester Cole Swell Number to 10 Accused of Contempt.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—Two more Hollywood screen writers were cited for contempt by a house un-American activities subcommittee today, bringing to 10 the number thus accused.

Ring Lardner Jr. and Lester Cole were cited when they refused to give "yes or no" answers to questions whether they are or have been Communists.

As in the eight previous cases, the committee presented testimony from its investigators of finding evidence that the men cited have been affiliated with the Communist party

See No Right

Like the others cited, the witnesses took the stand that the committee has no right to ask questions about political beliefs

Lardner, a script writer who adapted "Forever Amber" to the screen, was the first witness called as the committee went into the ninth day of its public hearings in its investigation of communism in Hollywood.

The 32-year-old, thin Lardner wore a dark business suit, a blue shirt, and a blue tie. He spoke with a nervous voice, prompting Chairman Thomas (R-NJ) to remark "you haven't learned your lines very well"

The resumption of the hearings was delayed by a closed-door session of the committee to consider the future course of its hearings No announcement was made as to any decisions reached

Thomas had said earlier that before the day's hearings were concluded the committee would develop from a "mystery" witness sensational evidence about atom bomb espionage"

Movie Reds Key Figures

This witness, a top committee official said in advance of the day's session, has evidence to show that certain movieland Reds were key figures in a plot to steal the secret of the bomb

There were reports at the Capitol that the mystery witness would be Louis J Russell, a former FBI agent now on the committee staff.

But Committee Chairman Thomas and Chief Investigator Robert E. Stripling threw a heavy curtain of secrecy around the promised developments

"We're going to pull the fuse off an atom bomb," was all Thomas would say to newsmen who pumped him in vain for information

Windup Is Near

Except for a few odds and ends to be pulled together tomorrow, the "espionage" chapter was scheduled to be the last in the committee's investigation, now nearing the end of its second week.

Thomas said the committee plans to end the hearings tomorrow without calling Charlie Chaplin as a witness, although the film star is under subpoena

Several more witnesses represented by Attorneys Robert W Kenny and Bartley C. Crum were on the list to testify at the session's start.

The eight against whom the committee already has recommended contempt actions are writers John Howard Lawson Dalton Trumbo, Alvah Bessie Albert Maltz, Samuel Ornitz and Herbert Biberman, director Edward Dmytryk, and producer Adrian Scott

PUBLICITY PLANNED IN FOOD PROGRAM

Marion Committee To Put Up Conservation Posters.

Posters urging citizens to conserve food and observe meatless Tuesdays and poultryless Thursdays will be put up in Marion within the next few days by the Marion's food committee, Chairman Bernard Peterson said today.

The posters are of six or seven different kinds and are prepared by the National Citizens Food committee One set is especially designed for schools.

Mr. Peterson announced appointment of the publicity committee Ed Frank, advertising manager of the Berlou Manufacturing Co., chairman, and Chancey Lake, John Plank, and Rex Brugger committeemen.

More appointments to the public committee and the executive and finance committees will be announced later, Mr. Peterson said.

6 GUNMEN NAB PLANT PAYROLL

$110,000 Taken in Holdup of Boston Westinghouse Subsidiary.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Oct 30—Six gunmen held up the B. F Sturtevant Company in the Hyde Park district today, escaping with a $110,000 payroll.

The Sturtevant company is a division of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation

Working methodically, two of the men entered the office of R W. Marshall, paymaster, and two others went into an adjoining office. A fifth stood at a door leading into the factory, and the sixth remained at the wheel of the get-way car.

One of the pair who walked into the paymaster's office wore a burlap bag over his head Marshall and five employes who were preparing to assist in preparation of the payroll were herded together, facing a wall The pair then seized the money and fled

Police said their only immediate clue was a registration number on the get-way automobile

The Sturtevant company manufactures air conditioning equipment.

In Small Bills

Gardner Derry, general manager of the plant, said the $110,000 was in small denomination bills, and that the paymaster and his assistants had just taken it from a vault to count it out into about 2,000 employes' pay envelopes.

The bandits went first to the telephone switchboard when they entered the office, Derry said. They drove operators away from the board, disconnected all cords, and forced about 20 employes in the main office to lie on the floor

Has Sawed-Off Gun

One of the men was armed with a sawed-off shotgun, and the others with pistols, Derry said.

Police announced later that they believed the registration number given to them by witnesses was that of a stolen plate, since an immediate check showed that it had been issued for a make of automobile other than that in which the men drove away.

Searchers Find Body Of Oregon's Governor

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Oct. 30—The wreckage of a plane carrying Gov. Earl Snell of Oregon and two other top officials and the pilot was reached by a search party today and there were no survivors. Fremont Forest Supervisor Merle Lowden said today Lowden said that ranger Jack Smith, with the party at the wreckage, reported by portable radio that the aircraft was demolished and four bodies were found.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Oct 30—Low-hanging clouds began to lift slightly after dawn today in the Dog Lake area as foresters pressed the hunt for wreckage of a private plane which carried Oregon's governor, two other top state officials and the pilot, to what was feared their death.

Searchers reported that they saw two planes overhead just after daybreak, seeking to direct the ground party, but clouds drifted in again and no report was received

The shattered wreckage was sighted and identified late yesterday by two civilian pilots who reported the small craft was "so damaged that no one could be alive"

There seemed slight chance that fate had spared any of the four—three of them ranking executives of the state—who left here Tuesday night on a one-hour flight to Lake county's Warner valley to hunt ducks and geese

Aboard the single engine four-place sportsplane were Governor Earl Wilcox Snell, 52, State Senate President Marshall Cornett 49, next in line of succession to the governorship; Secretary of State Robert S Farrell Jr., 41, and Cliff Hogue, 42, Klamath Falls, the pilot

Speaker Steps Up

Confirmation of the death of the governor and his normal successor, the senate president, automatically elevates the speaker of the state house of representatives to the governorship He is John H. Hall, 48, a Portland attorney and World War I veteran. The office of secretary of state would be filled by appointment in the event that official also died in the crash Tuesday night.

The succession of the speaker is provided by the Oregon constitution, in an amendment approved by the voters in 1946 at the time the nation became concerned over the succession line in the federal government.

Hall has been a member of the legislature since 1939, after a previous two year term served from 1933, and like all Oregon key executives is a Republican

The three Oregon officials had left the state capital Tuesday, planning a direct flight to the ranch of Oscar Kittredge The rancher is a personal friend of Cornett and co-owner with the official of the airplane Bad weather forced the party to halt here for dinner at the Cornett home Later the weather reports indicated clearing conditions and they took off for the Kittredge ranch.

The first report that the plane had disappeared came yesterday morning, when Kittredge telephoned the Cornett home to ask when the party would arrive He had waited at the Coleman lake landing field south of his ranch until after midnight, Tuesday, but went home, assuming that the governor's party had decided to remain in Klamath Falls because of the weather.

Within a short time the state's

REACH $33,137 IN FUND DRIVE

Additional Reports Scheduled To Be Turned Over to Leaders Tonight.

Shares in the amount of $33,137.92 have been purchased by Marion city and county residents in the Community Fund campaign to raise $60,043 to carry on the work of the Marion Community Foundation agencies, certified figures tabulated at headquarters showed today.

The amount represents partial reports from all wards in the house to house canvass and light checking in the county the campaign leaders state

Call for Material

The reports and the fact that workers are calling for more campaign material are ample proof that the campaign is moving forward and it is expected that tonight's reports will find the goal in sight

While the residential district is being canvassed on a house to house plan, special gifts, national stores and other special groups also are winding up their solicitations and in the rural communities the work is being carried on through the granges and school bus drivers and by the individual workers

Report Tonight

Precinct workers will make their reports to the ward leaders, who in turn will report at campaign headquarters tonight. The drive is scheduled to close with the final report meeting Friday night.

Truman Pays Tribute To Returned War Dead

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct 30 — President Truman joins today in a last sad tribute to a score of the country's honored dead

He arranged to attend mass burial services at historic Arlington National cemetery for 20 American fighting men who gave their lives in World War II

The flag-draped caskets were among those recently returned from temporary graves abroad

Due to join the President at the 11 a. m ceremony were civil and military leaders including Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Secretaries Royall, Sullivan and Symington of the Army, Navy and Air Force, respectively

Army and Navy chaplains of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths were to conduct the religious service.

HEARING HELD ON TELEPHONE RATES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30—The Ohio Associated Telephone company asked the state utilities commission today to grant it an increase in rates for its Marion district to meet higher costs of operation, materials and equipment.

No one appeared in opposition to the company's request, and the commission indicated it might reach a decision next week,

The company, with headquarters in Marion, O., serves 25 exchanges in the Marion district, embracing these counties: Marion, Champaign, Clark, Fairfield, Hancock, Madison, Pickaway, Sandusky, Seneca, Union and Wyandot.

The proposed rate increases would give the company a return of 3.9 per cent on its estimated valuation of $3,462,192 worth of property in the Marion district. It said its present return was 2.3 per cent.

Commission engineers estimated the property at $3,003,000

Clare Williams, vice president and general manager of the company, told the commission that more than 20 years had elapsed since it last increased rates in the city of Marion.

The company, he added, has had no rate increase for any exchange in nine years.

Williams said that only 55 per cent of the 18,000 subscribers in the Marion district would be affected by the increase in business and residential rates.

He reported that the company has undertaken an extensive improvement program, including a new $800,000 exchange for Marion

Edwin B. Spohn, Marion city solicitor, appeared as an observer at the hearing.

HARDING HIGH SET FOR FIRST HOMECOMING

Band Program, Crowning of Queen, To Feature Friday Night Event.

For the first time in the history of Harding High school, members of the faculty, the school band, the football team and pupils of the school are making preparations for Homecoming to be held Friday night at the Harding-Circleville game at Harding stadium The band has planned a special program in observance of the event

Miss Iris Eckels, a Harding High school senior, will be crowned Homecoming queen by Dick Huddle, a member of the football team, in a pre-game ceremony beginning at 7:15

Members of the queen's court are Miss Ann McDaniel, Miss Phyllis Badgley, Miss Jackie Gifford and Miss Mary Gruber and their escorts will be Robert Ralston, James Coss, James Hill and Robert Short, all members of the football squad

For the crowning ceremony, the Harding High school band, directed by Homer Huffman, instructor of instrumental music in the city schools will form an outline of a large heart in the center of the field From the point of the heart to the center of the heart, directly on the 50-yard line, the personnel of the football team will form an aisle up which the queen her court and escorts will walk for the crowning ceremony.

Throne Provided

Along with the crown of flowers the queen will be presented with a bouquet. Following the crowning, the queen and her court will retire to an especially built throne at the sidelines and she will reign over the game of the evening

The queen and her attendants will enter the field in convertibles and will be driven around the field While the band goes into the formation of the heart, they will play "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," and a chorus of the song will be sung by Jim Reed, a member of the senior chorus.

A highlight of the evening will be the selection of the oldest graduate of a graduating class of Harding present E Paul Huffman will locate the person by means of the public address system, and E. E. Holt, superintendent of city schools, will present a watch from Carroll's Jewelry Store to the graduate

Flag Raising Feature

Prior to the crowning ceremony, the band will march across the field in a moving block 'H', followed by the flag raising ceremony during which they will play the National Anthem

The band, in its halftime program, will feature the Homecoming event and also Halloween To open their performance, the band personnel will be at points around the field, completely encircling the field, and with the field lights out and using only the band lights, they will maneuver into the center of the field where they will spell

Musicians' Local To Present Gift Programs in 5 Counties

In keeping with the program of the American Federation of Musicians, Marion Local No. 531 has outlined a series of musical and social events to be presented during the next two months. The programs are being financed through money received from the recording and transcription fund being released by the American Federation of Musicians, the sponsors stated.

Mrs. Fanny Benson is directing the musical programs and taking part are Homer Huffman, violinist, William Dowler, string bass and vocalist, George Lane, cellist and Billy Johnston, accordionist and Mrs. Benson, pianist.

The first program will be presented Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Marion County home, and on Sunday, Nov. 9 the ensemble will present a program at Maplecrest, the King's Daughters Home for Girls at Bucyrus. On Sunday, Nov. 16 the group will present a program at the Evangelical and Reformed Church Home for the Aged in Upper Sandusky and on Sunday, Nov. 23 there will be two programs, one in the afternoon at the Marion County Children's home and a twilight concert at the Waddell Home. The last number of the musical series will be given at the Delaware County Children's home later in November.

Other projects will be holiday dances Nov. 29 and Dec. 29. Music for the dances will be local dance bands.

All the homes are in the jurisdiction of the Marion Local, which comprises Delaware, Wyandot, Marion, Crawford and Morrow counties.

The international program provides programs for summer musicals in parks, programs for veterans' hospitals, homes of the aged, orphanages, public and parochial school assemblies through allocations to the various locals from the recording fund.

OHIO BUSINESS SEEN BOOMING

Reports Show Increase in Jobs and Hike in Number of Small Firms.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct 30—Simultaneously announcements of the state tax department and the division of labor statistics showed the business weather vane today to be pointed as follows.

►Fifteen per cent more domestic corporations have paid their corporation franchise taxes this year than in 1946 and small business is booming

►The state's industrial employment rose 12 per cent in 1946

C Emory Glander, tax commissioner, reported that 1947 corporation franchise taxes totaled $6,686,625, compared with $5,860,453 in 1946 The tax department certified an even 25,000 domestic corporations—those located in the state—to the state auditor's office, an increase of nearly 15 per cent or 3,251 over 1946's 21,470 The 1947 figure, however, did not approach the 1929 peak of 28,852 corporations.

New Firms Small

"The average levy on each domestic corporation was $187.81 in 1947 compared with $192.71 in 1946," Glander's memorandum prepared by E C Smart, research chief said. "This indicates very definitely that most of the new corporations were small Probably many of these paid the minimum fee of $25, which would mean that asset valuation was $25,000 or less. This certainly represents great if no unbounded faith in the future of small business

"Undoubtedly many of these will fall by the wayside but many will continue to exist and grow. The latter group will be able to do this because of the new ideas and the innovations which will contribute to an increase in our standard of living.

"It seems fair to conclude that not only do Ohio business men view the prospects of the future with optimism but big business from the outside believe that Ohio is a favorable place to hold property and carry on their commercial or industrial operations."

Employment Rises

The labor statistics report prepared by division Chief Fred F. Braun, showed that the state's industrial employment rose from 1,159,987 in 1945 to 1,174,207 last year.

A breakdown by counties showed that Cuyahoga county had 25 per cent of the factories and 68.3 per cent of the workers, exclusive of supervisory, managerial, or traveling sales workers.

NATIVES SEEK PLANE

By The Associated Press

KETCHIKAN, ALASKA, Oct. 30—Southeastern Alaska natives joined with Coast Guard ground searching parties today in attempts to locate a missing Pan-American world airways plane with 18 aboard. Duke island, lying south of Annette island, was one search area and planes flew as low as 100 feet over its beaches and inlets yesterday looking for the big ship which disappeared Sunday.

BUS DRIVERS ACCEPT WAGE BOOST OFFER

Strike Averted; Increase Is 10 Cents an Hour.

Strike of city bus drivers, set for midnight Friday, was averted last night when the drivers voted to accept a 10 cents an hour wage increase

Wilbur H Poorman, president of local 222, Transport Workers Union, CIO, said the company's offer of the increase was accepted by a majority vote of the 22 members present

The session was held in the CIO hall on East Center street at midnight after night drivers ended the last shift

Union and company representatives were to meet at 1 p m today to revise the wage section of the contract. The increase is to be retroactive to Oct. 1 and will be effective until the present contract expires next June 2. At today's meeting Poorman represented the union and Ray Maag, president of the Marion Rapid Transit Co. acted for the company

The new wage rate will be $1 an hour for drivers with less than three months' experience and $1.05 for men employed more than three months.

17 TOP BANKS SUED AS "MONOPOLISTS"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — Attorney General Clark today announced the filing of a civil anti-trust suit against 17 of the largest investment banking firms in New York. The suit charges a conspiracy to monopolize the handling of securities issues.

In addition, the government asks for dissolution of the Investment Bankers Association of America which maintains headquarters in Chicago.

Clark told a news conference the suit is being filed in federal district court for southern New York.

He described the suit as "one of the largest and most important in the history of the anti-trust laws."

The complaint alleges that the 17 banking firms "have conspired to restrain unreasonably and to monopolize the securities business in this country by restricting, controlling and fixing the channels and methods, the prices, terms, and conditions upon which security issues are merchandised."

NEW YORK, Oct. — A quick denial of the charges of conspiracy to monopolize the securities business was made by leading investment banking firms today after the government announced such charges had been filed.

TOLD ATOMIC WORK HALTED BY KENTON RAID

Company Vice President Says Switchboard for Atomic Commission Damaged.

By The Associated Press

GALION, O., Oct. 30—A congressional subcommittee heard today that the Oct. 21 raid on the Kenton plant of the North Electric company stopped work on parts for a 4,000-line switchboard for the atomic bomb commission

R K. McBerty, vice president of the firm, whose Galion plant has been strike-bound since Aug. 20, told the three-member section of the house labor committee that the Kenton plant, west of here, just reopened today He said production and testing equipment had been destroyed, parts had been scattered and switchboards weighing a ton had been pushed over.

In reply to questions by Rep Clare Hoffman (R-Mich), he said the Kenton plant was making the 4,000-line switchboard as part of a huge telephone installation being built for the atomic bomb commission by other firms Although the board itself still in the very early stages of construction was not damaged, machinery to make its parts was United Automobile Workers (CIO), which called the strike at the Galion plant, has disclaimed all knowledge of the Kenton affair, which preceded a 12-hour siege of 350 non-strikers in the Galion plant by UAW-CIO pickets and sympathizers.

Edward J. Duck, Galion-Mansfield international representative of the UAW, asserted at the time that the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) was attempting to organize the Kenton plant and that the UAW had no interest in it.

Kenton Incident

McBerty said he did not know who was in the band of marauders which broke into the Kenton plant. Pressed by Hoffman, he said the company had difficulties only with the UAW-CIO, but admitted that two discharged Kenton employes whom he described as AFL members, had attempted unsuccessfully to file a national labor relations board complaint against the company.

Other members of the committee, meeting in the city council chamber, are Walter Brehm of Logan, and Frederick C. Smith of Marion. Smith, not actually a member, was acting in an ex-officio capacity because the plant is in his congressional district.

Hits Goon Activities

Hoffman in an exchange with Duck, declared that outside interference in labor disputes will lead to civil war.

Hoffman told Duck "the smart thing for your union to do would be to stop its goon activities."

In a long and at times sharp discussion of the 12-hour seige of 350 people in the plant here last Wednesday night, Duck shot back.

"There might be goon squads on both sides."

A "goon" is broadly defined as an outsider brought in for strong arm tactics in a dispute.

"Does that mean civil war?" Hoffman asked, then continued: "Local people put up just so long with outsiders, then they'll start shooting. Then we'll have civil war."

Although Rep. Walter Brehm of Logan insisted that the dispute here could be settled overnight" by a collective bargaining election, Duck said the union no longer wanted one "until we have a chance to show the workers what we can do for them."

"It would be unfair after 10 weeks of economic struggle," Duck added, "to ask the workers now, 'have you had enough?'"

"We are willing to submit our 320 pledge cards to a neutral party. Let him contact each one who signed, and ask if there was any duress and subtract that number and see if we still have a majority," Duck added.

The company employs about 750 persons here, including office and engineering people. The union contends that its pledges are only those of production workers and not of the other classifications.

Hoffman said at the outset that the committee intended to learn if the Taft-Hartley act was protecting the public in labor disputes "which endanger public safety and health."

"We want to put facts into the record whether the public, in particular employes, is being protected," he said. "We want to know if they can go about their usual work unmolested and if not whether this was due to the failure of law enforcement or whether the Taft-Hartley act failed to reach the situation."

BISMARCK, N. D.—Other cars and pedestrians are not the only driving hazards on North Dakota's busiest stretch of highway. Deer have become so numerous in the Missouri river lowlands that herds often obstruct the highway.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Mrs. Charlotte B. Reed

Mrs. Charlotte B. Reed, 80, of 494½ Davids street, died Wednesday at 7:40 p. m. at City hospital. She had been ill several weeks.

Mrs. Reed was born Aug. 13, 1867 in Union County to John Warrick and Alvira Cameron. She was married on Nov. 6, 1892 at Richwood, to Arthur E. Reed, who preceded her in death March 31, 1938.

A member of the Central Christian church, she was active in the missionary society circle there.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Earl Rees of Ashland, two sisters, Miss Sarah Warrick and Miss Carrie Holloway, both of West Mansfield, seven grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren. One son and one daughter preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Schaffner-Denzer Funeral Home on East Center street. Rev. Eldred Johnston of the Central Christian church, officiating. Burial will be in the Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home anytime after 7:30 tonight.

Frank P. Hastings

RICHWOOD — Frank Phillips Hastings, 54, farmer of south of LaRue, died at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday in San Antonio hospital in Kenton. He had been ill a month, was at the hospital a week, and suffered a heart attack.

Born Sept. 15, 1893, in Hardin county, he was a son of Joseph L. and Eva O. Phillips Hastings. June 18, 1916, he married Mildred O. Guthery in LaRue. He was a member of the Marseilles Presbyterian church, and of Bowling Green Grange of LaRue, and was chancellor commander of the North Star Knights of Pythias lodge of Essex.

Surviving are his widow, sons, Edwin J. of Dayton and Phillips G. of LaRue, three grandchildren, sisters, Mrs. Maud Felty of Kenton, Mrs. Carrie Morgan of Toledo, Mrs. Eloise Rodgers of Burlingame, Calif., and Mrs. Fae Topliff and Mrs. Augusta Burbaugh, and a brother, Spear S. Hastings, all of LaRue.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Hastings residence near LaRue by Rev. J. W. Horne. Burial will be in LaRue cemetery. The body was to be removed from the Hastings Funeral home in Richwood to the late residence of the deceased, where friends may call Friday morning.

Earl W. Smith

Earl W. Smith, 64, died Wednesday morning at the Lafayette hotel in Gallipolis, of which he was proprietor. He had been ill since the first of the year.

A native of Climax, in Morrow county, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smith. His residence had been 12 years at Gallipolis where he moved from Sidney. At one time he lived at Bucyrus. He was a thirty-second degree Mason, a member of the Elks lodge, and of Rotary club.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Cox Smith, a daughter, Miss Alice Smith, a brother, Everett of Bucyrus, and a sister, Mrs. Bert Downs of Martel.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 10 a. m. in Gallipolis, and burial will be in Iberia cemetery about 3 p. m. Friday.

—Funeral Services—

CARDINGTON COUPLE MARRIED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lee To Mark Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Lee of near Cardington will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, Nov. 2, with open house at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Click of one-half mile south of Cardington. The celebrants will receive their guests between the hours of 2 and 5 in the afternoon and 7 and 9 in the evening.

They were married Nov. 4, 1897, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Garver, north of Mt. Gilead, with Rev. William R. Chase of the Edison Methodist church officiating. Witnesses at the ceremony, Miss Margaret Garver, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Maude Ewers Smith, are still living, Miss Garver residing in Cleveland and Mrs. Smith making her home in Jamestown, O.

A native of Cardington township, Mr. Lee's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lee. He celebrated his seventy-third birthday anniversary Aug. 5. Mrs. Lee, who was Miss Frances Garver before her marriage, was born in Indiana and observed her seventy-third birthday Jan. 15. With the exception of her early childhood, she always resided in Morrow county. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lee are members of Bethel Methodist church north of Cardington.

Four children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee. One son died in infancy, and another son, Herbert, died Aug. 11, 1927. Two daughters are living, Mrs. Blanche Click of near Cardington and Mrs. Grace Patten of 484 Reed avenue, Marion. They also have six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mr. Lee has two brothers, Job of Edison and Charles of Mt. Gilead. Members of Mrs. Lee's family still living are a brother, Levi Garver of Mt. Gilead, and two sisters, Mrs. Lydia Bowman of near Edison and Miss Margaret Garver of Cleveland.

Rams Police Cruiser At Bucyrus; Driver Fined

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 30—Automobile accidents in Bucyrus and vicinity took a jump in the last 24 hours with eight mishaps reported by the police department and sheriff's office.

A California couple, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Burns, age 55 and 54 respectively, were injured and were admitted to City hospital for treatment following an accident eight miles west of Bucyrus on route 30-N. Their car skidded on the wet highway and overturned, the sheriff's office reported.

No injuries were reported in the seven accidents occurring within the city limits. Paul Jacob Kibler, of near Bloomville, was fined $15 and costs on a charge of reckless operation. The local police cruiser was struck and damaged in the estimated extent of $99 by the Kibler car at Marion and Sandusky streets, Patrolman Richard Kelly, driver of the cruiser, testified. Radio equipment in the trunk of the cruiser was damaged as well as the front of the Kibler car.

Other accidents involved cars driven by Lawrence S. Runnion, of near New Washington, which collided with a car driven by Arthur C. Thompson, Marion, a car driven by Vincent DeBlasi which was struck from the rear by a skidding car driven by Robert W. Turney, of near Nevada; a Farm Bureau truck driven by Richard A. Zahn and a car operated by Joseph Stirzinger; a truck operated by Robert Weeks, Fostoria, parked without lights which was struck by a car driven by Clarence Landis, Bucyrus. The Landis car was sideswiped by an automobile driven by Stanley Clayton, Denver, Colo. following the accident.

In another accident Willard E. Zehring, Bucyrus, was struck and knocked to the pavement by a car driven by William R. Cohagen, Columbus. In still another a parked car belonged to O. E. Warner, was damaged when it was struck by a passing car.

The motor in the first Wright brothers flying machine had no carburetor. Gasoline was dripped into the cylinders.

Supreme Court Test May Be Result of Hollywood Red Probe

By MAX HALL
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—This week a group of Hollywood writers have been charged with contempt of congress because they wouldn't give "yes-or-no" answers to the question 'are you a Communist?"

That means a court trial is possible. Ultimately the case may go to the supreme court.

Already, in the yelling and pounding of one of the noisiest committee hearings ever held on Capitol Hill, both sides are preparing for this court trial.

You can see it in the asking of the questions by the committee attorney, Robert E. Stripling, and in the way the witnesses reply.

What is contempt of congress?

It's a violation of a law which says—

Whenever a person who has been summoned as a witness before a congressional committee ignores the summons or 'refuses to answer any question pertinent to the question under inquiry," he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

He can be fined $1,000 and jailed for one year.

* * *

A SUBCOMMITTEE of the house un-American activities committee—in bring John Howard Lawson, Samuel Ornitz, and others for contempt—has stated flatly that they have "refused" to answer questions and therefore have violated the law.

Now, if the full committee, then the house of representatives, and finally a federal grand jury all agree with this view, the case will go to trial in the federal district court here.

If this happens, the jury must decide the issue of whether these men legally did "refuse" to answer. The witnesses haven't admitted they "refused." Some have insisted they weren't refusing—they only wanted to answer in their own way.

Each witness would begin talking about his right under the constitution and the committee's right to ask such a question, and Chairman J. Parnell Thomas would begin banging his gavel and demanding a yes-or-no answer.

The witness would keep talking and Thomas would finally order him away. That's the pattern.

* * *

IF A TRIAL IS held, the defendants—judging by their testimony this week—will argue that the question "are you a Communist?" is unconstitutional and the committee had no right to ask it. They have insisted that their civil rights are invaded by an inquiry into their political beliefs.

There have been several recent jury convictions for contempt of congress. None of them has yet reached the supreme court.

Here are the cases:

Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party, was convicted on the ground that he failed to appear before the un-American activities committee last April 9 in answer to a subpoena.

Gerhard Eisler and Leo Josephson were convicted in separate trials on the ground that they refused to take the oath for testimony before the same committee.

Sixteen members of the joint anti-Fascist Refugee committee were convicted on the ground that they refused to submit certain records to the un-American activities committee.

Benjamin F. Fields, Washington lawyer, was convicted on the ground that he failed to produce certain records to the house surplus property committee concerning a financial deal in which he made a profit on the sale of wire screening.

Only Monday a U. S. court of appeals upheld Fields' conviction. His lawyers say they will appeal to the supreme court.

Couple Goes on Trial For Slaying 2 Babies

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 30 — The mother of two slain children and the Lucas county coroner were to testify today in the trial of Mr. and Mrs. Harold LeHaney, charged with killing the two brothers.

Prosecutor Joel S. Rhinefort said Mrs. Virginia Gleason Zollweg and Coroner Paul Hohly would be among the first witnesses called after state and defense counsel outlined their cases to the jury.

A jury of nine women and three men to try the 41-year-old couple was selected late yesterday. Earlier, defense attorneys filed notices of intent to establish alibis for the bus driver and his wife, Florence.

The LeHaneys were arrested last May 19 in Waterloo, Ia., following a three-week search and indicted for first degree murder in the death of Jimmy Gleason, 5, and his brother, Gerald, 2.

Who's Next?

FORGET the Hollywood red hint for a few minutes. A presidential committee on civil rights has said something a lot more important.

Better take this hysteria about communism, advises the committee headed by Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric. It threatens the freedom of other citizens.

What does he mean?

It could mean that the United States might repeat the ghastly mistake the Germans made during the Red hint led by Adolf Hitler. They put themselves in chains forged by prejudice and fear. Nothing the Reds can do in this country is half so fearful as the things Americans might do if they lost sight of the vital importance of their civil liberties.

Consider this statement by Eric Johnston, speaking to the house committee investigating communism in the movies:

"When I was before this committee last March, I said that I wanted to see Communists exposed. I still do. I'm heart and soul for it. An exposed Communist is an unarmed Communist. Expose them, but expose them in the traditional American manner. . . When this committee or any other agency undertakes to expose communism it must be scrupulous to avoid tying a red tag on innocent people by indiscriminate labeling."

Mr. Johnston, speaking for the motion picture industry, then came to the big point.

"We insist on our right to decide what will or will not go in our pictures," he declared. "We are deeply conscious of the responsibility this freedom involves, but we have no intention to violate this trust by permitting subversive propaganda in our films."

If any politician or group of politicians once establishes the right to control what's portrayed in the movies, the press will be next. Radio, because of its technical handicaps, already knows the feel of the censor's gag.

Yet, some elements of the press are still so blind to the fact they are in the same boat with the motion picture industry they are whooping with glee because a few suspected commies apparently have been run down in a hunt that jeopardizes the freedom of the entire American press, including the part printed on film instead of newsprint.

Take it easy, advises the civil rights committee; there are more important things at stake than a few people who happen to have half-baked ideas. Expose them by all means, but don't destroy civil rights in the excitement.

Another Exile

THE leader of Poland's wartime government in exile, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, again is forced to flee from his native land for safety. He is followed by the usual torrent of abuse from Moscow.

He joins in exile Hungary's Ferenc Nagy, Yugoslav's Milan Gavrilovic and other non-Communist leaders from countries behind the iron curtain. He leaves behind Romania's Iuliu Maniu, under arrest, and other unfortunate leaders who, when and if the Kremlin wills, will follow Bulgaria's Nikola Petrov to the gallows.

Those who tolerate Communists fare no better than their active enemies once the Reds come to power. When they are in command, Communists are as ruthless as the Nazis ever were in their extermination of minorities, just one of the many traits they have in common.

Punt, Pass and Pray

BERNARD M. Baruch has told the senate war investigating committee that bungling in World War II mobilization cost "thousands of lives, extra billions of dollars and months of time."

It wasn't that we didn't have an M-day plan. We had. It was made public in 1931 and revised in 1933, 1936 and early in 1939, but President Roosevelt jettisoned it in November, 1939, because, as Mr. Baruch says, "We were told this was a different war and none of 'that old world war stuff' was wanted." Nevertheless, after three years of trial and error, the end product, the office of war mobilization, was essentially the same agency as that provided for in the 1939 plan.

At times we do an amazing job of muddling through. After the crisis was upon us the best advice available was tossed aside and we had to rely on the pass-punt-and-pray system. Based on his World War I experience and his uncommonly large fund of common sense, the M-day recommendations of Mr. Baruch were the best available. That it took us three years to get around to adopting them is hardly a tribute to top-echelon leadership in the early days of the war.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Another Error by the Movie Industry.

THE motion picture industry is repeating the error made when it hired Wendell Willkie to cover up. This time they have hired Eric Johnston and Paul McNutt, but there will be no cover up. It is not because Johnston and McNutt are less competent, but that times have changed. The American people have heard the voice of Vishinsky. They have witnessed the downfall of a large number of countries in Europe because their peoples were not vigilant. They want to make sure that no so-called American is working for the international conspiracy that Vishinsky represents at the United Nations. Talk about a synthetic "scare" is silly after what has been happening to this world since V-J day.

If the motion picture industry had any competence at public relations, they would favor the Thomas committee investigation and let the chips fall where they may. Instead, they are employing Eric Johnston and Paul McNutt to sign full page advertisements in newspapers, to issue interviews, to threaten the Thomas committee and to get themselves and their photographs in the newspapers along with a heterogeneous group of mummers and directors and things who prefer citations for contempt rather than to tell their true names and to answer whether they are or are not Communists, which might land them in a perjury charge.

Our Only Protection

The impression which the Johnston and McNutt activity gives is that, on behalf of the motion picture industry, they are engaged in a publicity barrage designed to detract attention from men and women who may expose themselves as Communists. The non-Communist or anti-Communist has nothing to fear. After all, decent men are not afraid to answer the question: Are you married or single?

Since the learned Judge Fuld of the New York State court of appeals has made it difficult to describe a known Communist as such unless the Communist is willing to produce a party card, which he will do, the only protection the United States has against a Russian fifth column and a vast body of American Quislings is such an investigation as the Thomas committee is conducting and the work of the FBI. These creatures now have judicial protection to do their work in this state, fearful only of the Thomas committee and the FBI.

It is all very simple before the Thomas committee: If a man is not a Communist, an agent of Soviet Russia and has never been one, and has no vile record, all he needs to do is to so state under oath. I would be willing to take such an oath at any time. So would most Americans. The only ones who dare not take such an oath are those who fear the charge of perjury and its consequences.

Our Chief Problem

They can make a lot of noise about freedom of thought, but what we face is the corruption of our children, the use of the most popular medium of amusement, one that appeals particularly to young people, by an enemy. If it can be proved, after investigation, that the movies have not been used corruptly, then that is to the credit of the motion picture industry. If it is established, as some say, that only a handful of writers, actors and directors are involved in this indecency, then it is an advantage, for we know who they are. If it is found that the objectionable characterizations and the objectionable sequences were done as war propaganda under the stimulus of soft-minded public officials, then we ought to know about that and who the officials were or are. The fact that villains on the screen are generally bankers or business men is definitely designed to stimulate opposition to the American economic system.

At any rate, let us have whatever facts can be brought to the surface, so that Americans may be safeguarded against the forces that have wrecked and ruined country after country in Europe.

They Are Enemies

Do we have to declare war to catch traitors? Do we have to spill the blood of our sons because we wish to safeguard the jobs of miserable creatures who put their own country last? Every Communist is an enemy of the United States of America and has been uninterruptedly since October, 1917.

What's on the Menu, Aid of Partisanship?

President Truman has called a special session of congress to convene Nov. 17.

The call listed two items of business: European and White Collar relief.

It isn't only to feed Europe that the salaried man is eating less these days.

The only difference between starvation and inflation is that the latter is a lengthier process.

Of course, for millions of Europeans, starvation is just around the corner. But so, unfortunately, is 1948. That means the extra session is about as likely to produce food for politics as it is for Europe.

One can only hope the emphasis at the coming session will be on the bread and not the ballot box. Hunger cuts across party lines and death doesn't vote a straight ticket.

How Not To Pick a President

By Raymond Moley

WHEN Senator Taft said, in announcing his candidacy, that the race was wide open, he was pointing at a most unusual situation. There are many candidates who must be taken seriously. It seems at this time that no one will have anything like a majority when the Philadelphia convention opens. Hence, the balloting may go on for days, with all the confusion, excitement and back-stage business that a convention brings forth. In such a bitter and protracted affair, all sorts of influence, good and bad, will operate; high-pressure demonstrations will be made; deals will be attempted, and the poor delegates will have to make their vital decision in an atmosphere in which clear thinking is impossible.

There have been many candidates in past conventions, but in those cases a good proportion of the names before the convention were not those of serious contenders. This time, at least 10 persons are real possibilities. They are well known, able and quite suitable for the office sought. Each will believe he has a chance.

From Jackson Era

In this situation, old defects of the convention system will once more become a subject of deep concern. The national nominating convention had its origin in Jackson's time. For 30 years afterward, it was wholly undemocratic—the creature, on the Democratic side, of federal office-holders. It made several very unwise choices, and its defects had much to do with the decay of the Democratic party. Criticism arose again at the turn of the century, and the presidential primary was introduced as a remedy. There were high hopes for a new regime at the time of Wilson's first election. Wilson himself said the primary might well supplant the convention. But after 1912 the growth of the primary stopped. Now, only about a quarter of the states have a genuine presidential preference by voters.

Even in those states where the primary exists, there is no real expression of opinion at the polls concerning all of the candidates in the field. In most cases, out-of-state candidates do not enter, because the favorite son is present and they would rather dicker for the second choice of his delegates than offend him by entering his state.

Long Backslide

And so for all practical purposes we are back where we were 50 years ago. A convention has no real mandate from the people, so far as the choice of the candidate is concerned. That is why private polls, especially that of Dr. Gallup, have such an inordinate influence. Delegates honestly trying to pick the man who has the greatest popular support turn to straws in the wind.

Therefore, it is most desirable that those responsible in each state for the selection of delegates make very careful preparations for the convention. They ought to conduct their own soundings of opinion in their own state. After a delegation is selected, it should as far as possible be decided well in advance of the convention its order of choice among the candidates. It ought to plan its convention conduct so that under sound leadership it can actively and calmly deliberate on the decisions it must make as the voting proceeds.

And over the country the press and the public should impress upon political leaders that next year's Republican convention has serious business to do. It should be neither a circus, a sham nor a riot.

Meet Vittorio Vidali

By Joseph Alsop

TRIESTE

IN these days Trieste is a toy state on the scale of Lichtenstein, where nothing agreeable or disagreeable, is easily hidden. Even the Communist party, ordinarily habituated to dark places, has its headquarters just across the broad waterfront street from the headquarters of the Anglo-American forces. The Communist chieftains share with British General Airey and American General Moore the splendid panorama of Trieste harbor, which the Kremlin is seeking to bring within the Soviet sphere.

Among these fortunate and hard-working men there is one worth closer study, as a symbol of the problem posed for the free world by the existence of a powerful imperialist state possessing agents everywhere in the disguise of advocates of high-sounding ideals. His name is Vittorio Vidali, and although not the front man, he is almost certainly the controller of the Communist party apparatus and the direct representative of the Kremlin in Trieste.

He must now be in his fifties. At any rate, he was a minor figure in the Italian Socialist party at the close of the last war. In the turmoil of the Kremlin's first great effort to destroy the democratic non-Communist Left in Europe, he became a Communist. Thereafter, probably because he had to flee from Italian Fascist terror, he left Italy and began the wandering life of an agent of the Comintern.

Was U. S. Visitor

For some time he was in the United States, and for some time in Moscow. Without doubt in Moscow he attended the Comintern schools which can now boast as many eminent politician graduates as Britain's Eton in its heyday as a production line for cabinet ministers. For some time also he was one of the Communist agents in Spain who helped to wreck the Loyalist cause from within while the Fascists attacked it from without. Then, he was transferred to Mexico. There he must have formed part of the special wartime American apparatus organized by the late, unlamented Ambassador Oumansky, the N. K. V. D. bigwig who rose to greatness by betraying his superiors without ceasing for an instant to smile his broad, gold bestudded smile.

Finally, in 1943, the Comintern was organizing the Italian Communist partisans—a special brand of partisan who spent almost as much time fighting future democratic competitors as the more widely popular enemies of those days. Vidali was brought from Mexico and smuggled into Italy to help in this effort. He must be able and courageous, for he survived the considerable tests of that time and emerged as the big man behind the scenes in Trieste. The official Trieste leaders are Slovenes, since Slovenes constitute a large majority of the local Communists. But Vidali, in view of his record, is unquestionably the real fount of power.

His Main Objectives

He has two missions. His first and minor mission is to watch over the Trieste station on the underground railway to Yugoslavia. This is the organization responsible for recruiting and delivering to Yugoslavia, sometimes legally and sometimes illegally, idealistic young people from all over Europe.

These are being invited "to help build Yugoslav democracy." A good many thousands—the large numbers are well confirmed—have already been brought into Yugoslavia, ostensibly as volunteer workers on the roads and railways. In practice, there are the best possible grounds for believing that once they cross the Yugoslav frontier, the best of them are trained for and incorporated into the new international brigade. This is the weapon, of course, which the Kremlin is preparing for possible emergencies in Greece or elsewhere.

Program of Operations

Signor Vidali's major mission, however, is to bring Trieste under the eager heel of Marshal Tito. This he must do despite Trieste's huge anti-Communist majority of over 200,000 Italians. In order to accomplish this mission, three main methods are employed.

First, the Communist party busily infiltrates every possible organized manifestation of the life of Trieste, whether labor unions or social clubs, or humble cultural organizations. The Cosuliches, the rich family who own the shipyards, have been unappetizing employers. Most of their workers are Slovenes. Naturally the union is Comumnist controlled. Thus it was the San Marco shipyard workers who sought unsuccessfully to lead the general strike, timed to coincide with the even more humiliatingly unsuccessful Yugoslav coup d'etat on Sept. 15.

Method No. 2 is economic infiltration. The line, looted by the Communist partisans are almost exhausted, but from Belgrade, where the whole Communist effort in Trieste has its zone of the interior base, ample additional funds are forthcoming. Phony firms are being formed. Fronts are being acquired for every kind of transaction aimed to give the Communists a foothold in Trieste's economic life. Finally, the third and last method is simple terror. Dangerous opponents, like the anti-Tito Slovene editor, Ursic, are made to disappear. Or when it is feasible, they are even more publicly done away with, like the Istrian priest, Bulesich.

In the little Slovene villages still included in the free territory, and among the Slovene population in the city, these methods have been successful. Despite the discouraging spectacle of seven Yugoslav divisions hungrily living off the countryside across the border, these people would either like to join Tito or dare not voice their opposition. Among the Italians, little headway has been made. If the Anglo-American command in Trieste continues to be supported and to do the same good job, Vittorio Vidali's mission is likely to last a very long time. But it is interesting to watch the process here, even though Vidali may be frustrated.

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Confession by a Hollywood Communist

"YES, I am a Communist and I am a [illegible] for the overthrow of the American [illegible]. Why not? I am sick of being downtrodden. Do you ever downtrodden in an outdoor swimming pool? Then think what it means to be downtrodden in three! All in one yard!

* * *

"I am fed up with the whole Hollywood system. Before I went there I had freedom in bathing. A small indoor tub was all I was allowed. More in fact. I could wash or not. Bathing was never a social event. But I was not in the movie colony six months before I had become a social slave. Did Washington have to submit to indoor swimming pools? Did Thomas Jefferson? Did Lincoln? Never!

* * *

"Why should there be all this surprise when I am a Communist? Do you know what it means to have to stand for big money? Have you ever felt the curse of affluence, luxury, and too much publicity? If not you do not know what it means to be exploited by personal ease and comfort. It tears a man apart.

* * *

"Once I was a happy American, getting a small salary and fooling nobody. I knew I was mediocre. Then came a chance to go into the movies and—presto—I was in Hollywood at $3,000 a week. It was all a capitalistic plot.

* * *

"Wealth is bad enough, when it is without effort, but what hurt was the adulation, the over-praise, the unceasing strain of having to promote (or at least not discourage) the idea I wasn't worth a dime over $75 a week, without carfare.

* * *

"That sort of stuff makes a man think. He [illegible] was, it suddenly occurred to me, a victim of exploitation by my own press notices. I realized what the American system of free enterprise was doing to me. I was forced to ask myself: 'Are you a man or a mouse? And if a mouse, are you a swimming pool mouse, a mouse who has to go around in beach sandals?'

* * *

"Everywhere I went I encountered other wretches, happy, carefree and overpaid like myself. I was one of the great herd of soft money boobs. It was degrading. I tried to get out by doing poorer work, but they raised my pay. I made nine months and did only one two-minute short subject which was deleted. And they made me a director and part owner!

* * *

"It was hell. Where could I turn? I was helpless. Then a friend told me about Kremlin—I beg pardon—about the Kremlin. He, too, had been a victim of capitalism and was down to his last four country homes. He tried Communism after four doses he lost his job, his salary and the roof over his head, but found true happiness.

* * *

"So I went for the Kremlin treatment. I am a new man, bolstered by the firm belief that the time will come when horrid things like dough, fame and a life of opulence will bother me no more. Fellow citizens, revolt! Revolt now and, if possible in technicolor!"

Ima Dodo says she knows a young girl who went to see "Forever Amber" and then ran away with eight men.

Bob Feller got $87,000 for pitching this year. That is almost enough money to drive a fellow into the Communist party.

An Iowa boy sold a steer the other day for $13,000. With a baked potato, two slices of bread and one old-fashioned cocktail it would have cost twice as much.

Company

By Truman Twill

Company came. It was unexpected, as it frequently is—relatives from afar, passing through, who thought they'd stop to see how things were at the Twillery.

Things weren't good.

The dogs had been eating bones in the living room, which looked as if a detachment of the Russian army had bivouacked there overnight.

Dirty dishes were piled in the kitchen, which wouldn't have mattered if the company hadn't said, "My, we're thirsty for a drink of water. No, no, sit still, we'll go get it"—and did.

The lady of the house was on the telephone something important that couldn't be hung up on in a jiffy—which wouldn't have mattered either except that the only person left available to [illegible] opening the door had got up late and was still in his pajamas.

That wouldn't have mattered either if it hadn't been almost noon and if the pajamas had been in A-1 repair. It would have helped a great deal if the wearer had been wearing both of the bedroom slippers that went with his lounging outfit, but the dogs had hidden one of the slippers.

It was understandable that there should be a certain amount of confusion in a household receiving company unexpectedly just before noon, but it seemed odd that the man of the house should be scrubbing the basement in a pair of trousers and a pair of galoshes, nothing else except a heavy growth of whiskers and a tousled head of what lately has turned to skin.

It was understandable that everything was not in its place, but somewhat strange that everything should be out of place—a circumstance that had to do with a number of unforeseen and untoward events, too complicated to explain and better left unmentioned; therefore. This tended to give the impression that everything was normal.

It serves unexpected company right to run into situations like this and not to get invited to stay for lunch even if it takes two hours to persuade them there is no hope.

The next time it happens, everybody on the place has standing instructions to tell the visitor to go away and come back in 15 minutes. If they want to make something of it they're to be told, "Missy Twill and old massy move away outside of town one, two, three years, maybe more, maybe less, kindly give regards if sometimes. We must hurry now, get back inside before doctor man he say, 'Why you expose nice lady and me to Bang's disease, you rascal?" Bye, bye and bang, bang, maybe you hurry up get sick, you rascals you."

Goose Killers

Ignorance of the economic facts of life, says Sherman Rogers, former labor leader, rancher and hard-rock miner, may kill the American goose that lays the golden eggs. If you believe employers make more profits than they pay out in wages, that a handful of rich persons own most of the country's large companies, machines rob workers of their livelihood or eliminating profits would help consumers, you're an accomplice in the murder.

The book in which Rogers writes about dangerous fallacies in American thinking is titled "Why Kill the Goose?" He declares: "In a country where we have everything to live for and everything to live with we are neither contented nor satisfied. There has been in the comparatively recent past more internal hatred and strife created in the United States than ever before in our history. There must be a reason—and there is."

The reason, Rogers believes, is a general lack of economic facts of the United States. The rights and benefits Americans have enjoyed under liberty, he explains, have been so abundant they have been taken for granted—but may be lost unless their beneficiaries keep a watchful eye on them.

A theme on flowers was carried out at a meeting of the Colonial club Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. H. C. Smith on Clover avenue. Dinner was served from small tables preceding business, with the hostess' daughter, Betty, assisting in serving. An exchange of "friendship plants" was held. A report was made on two boxes of clothing and a box of food which were sent for overseas relief. The club has adopted a project of sending across a box a month during the winter. Contest honors went to Mrs. R. M. Ewing and Mrs. Reuben Rettig, and a mystery box award went to Mrs. Leslie Foraker.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Craven of 644 North Main street entertained a group of young friends of their son, Ronnie, in honor of his fifth birthday anniversary, at their home Monday. A Halloween theme was carried out, with a birthday cake decorated in black and gold, with five small gold candles lighted by the celebrant. Games were played and pictures of the group were taken. Mrs. Billy R. Craven assisted in serving.

Mrs. Della Mayer was hostess to the Ben Hur club Monday afternoon at her home at 663 Cherry street. Mrs. Bessie Saunders, in charge of devotions, read from the 104th and 106th Psalms. In keeping with Navy Day, she also read a memorian to the war dead who are being returned to this country written by Dorothy Albaugh of Columbus. Members responded to roll call by giving favorite poems. A contribution of $5 was made to the community chest, and an announcement was made that a box to be sent to servicemen had been filled and given to the Red Cross for shipping. For the program, a paper on the "Biography of Calvin Coolidge" was presented by Mrs. Grace Cyders, and Mrs. Clara Thompson read a paper entitled "The Green Mountain State."

A Halloween party was held by women students at the Marion Business college Tuesday night. The rooms were decorated with orange and black crepe paper and Halloween ornaments. Games were played. Present were Misses Ruth Little of Mt. Gilead, Donna Walter of Wharton, Betty Greenawalt of LaRue, Peggy Kroger of Kenton, Wanda Glassburn of New Bloomington, Leila Cryder of Marion, and Rutheda Ward of Meeker.

OLD-AGE STUDY

By International News Service

NEW YORK—To help provide for the nation's increasing proportion of old people, New York City is co-sponsoring a comprehensive study of the diseases of old age. The study will be made at New York University's College of Medicine and the Goldwater Memorial Hospital, Welfare Island. Research will be directed primarily toward discovering causes and treatments for hardening of the arteries.

Club Women Challenged To Meet Day's Problems

A CHALLENGE to all women to face the problems of the present and play their part in the adjustments of men and women to the freedoms which have developed in community society during the last generation highlighted two addresses on the program of the Central District conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, here yesterday. Speakers were Mrs. C. E. M. Finney of Springfield, state president, and Dr. Howard Faust of Columbus, minister and lecturer. More than 150 clubwomen, representing senior and junior clubs in the district attended the one-day session held in the First Evangelical and Reformed church. A luncheon in the church recreation room honoring the state officers and chairmen, and a tea at the Federation Home after the close of the afternoon session, were social events on the program.

The morning session was devoted to reports of clubs and a departmental forum in charge of Mrs. C. E. Swanbeck of Huron. The invocation was by Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor of the church.

Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, president of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs, welcomed the guests at the opening of the afternoon session. The response was by Mrs. Ralph Fitch of Huron who extended an invitation to the clubwomen to hold the 1948 conference at Huron. Mrs. Chester A. Smith of Columbus, district president, presided. Mrs. E. H. Hale, accompanied by Mrs. William Ackerman at the organ, sang a group of numbers, "Where're You Walk," Sacramente, and "Bless This House." Mrs. Howard Martindale of Youngstown, Junior club chairman, gave a talk on the work of the junior clubs and announced four new clubs have been organized in the state.

After reviewing the founding and work of the state federation Mrs. Finney turned to the problems of nations and people today and said that "we as Americans are faced with problems that no other nation has ever been asked to face." Communism, she said, is a threat today, tomorrow it may be a reality, war with Russia may become a reality, juvenile delinquency and crime are increasing and the divorce problem is mounting. "The coming age is one of stark reality," she said, "let us have faith in ourselves, in each other, our country and God."

Dr. Faust's subject was "Fit for Freedom." The establishment of a respect for God, a consciousness of sharing responsibility as well as freedom by individuals, communities and nations was the speaker's answer to his own question of "Are We Fit for Freedom?" "Unless we can teach young people to respect God, we are lost," he declared in discussing the effect of social problems of the present day. He emphasized the necessity of young people sharing the responsibility of the home and pointed out that one of the causes of marital unhappiness is the fact that either the husband or wife demands much and shares little. Citing marriage problems as major ones today, he said that in 1870 there were just five divorces to 100 marriages in America, today one out of five marriages ends in divorce and in Ohio the ratio is one out of three.

For the musical program during the luncheon Mrs Harry T. Williams and Mrs. O. D. Anderson played a group of piano duets. The selections included "Valse Brilliante," Grunn, "Magnolias in the Moonlight" and "White Jasmine" from the Tropic Night suite by Dungan and "Frasquita Serenade," by LeHar.

Members of the social committee were in charge of the tea at the Federation home. Mrs. W. N. Harder, a past president of the state federation and also of the Marion federation, and Mrs. Sutherland presided at the table which held a colorful centerpiece of fall flowers. Mrs. Clarence Weber, past president of Central district and several of the district chairmen, greeted the guests. Mrs. O. Linscott, violinist, and Mrs. John F. Lacey, pianist, played during the afternoon.

On the social committee were Mrs. B. H. Buettin, Mrs. Jane Arnold, Mrs. J. P. Courtright, Mrs. J. C. Ackerman, Mrs. Ray Rawlings, Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer and Miss Mabel Wheatley.

SNOWPLOWS VERSATILE

By The United Press

NEW YORK—Port officials harbor visions of an equatorial Siberia when they found a shipment of 100 snowplows consigned to South Africa. But the Frazer Farm Equipment Co. said the plows were not ordered to clear away snow but would be used with the company's rototiller farm implements to stack up wheat and oats during the harvest season.

The hearing adjourned at noon, but was scheduled to continue this afternoon and tonight.

States Purpose

Chairman Hoffman said he would hear management, labor and non-union employes from the firm's three plants in Ohio. The other two plants are in Kenton and Mt. Gilead.

He said he planned to stay two days to investigate the dispute, which almost flared into a breach of the public peace on Oct. 22 when 375 employes fearing attacks by 100 pickets barricaded themselves in the plant, but would remain longer "if anything interesting turns up."

Negotiations between the company and the union yesterday ended with some progress made and both sides were "showing willingness to cooperate toward reaching an agreement."

North Electric director presented a secret offer to union officials last night who promptly met to consider it but adjourned until Friday with no comment.

Method of Election

The major issue separating the two sides—the method of conducting a bargaining election to establish representation. The company insisted on having a plant wide secret ballot type election while the union said a check of membership cards against the firm's payroll was sufficient.

Federal Mediator Horace C. Volkoun reported that both sides reached a tentative agreement on wages and non-discriminating in hiring and firing. UAW representatives, he said, accepted the company's proposal of a 15 per cent pay boost but informed management that they considered it inadequate and would negotiate the issue at a later date.

Governor Herbert who warned after a personal visit to the scene that he would tolerate "no further outbreaks of lawlessness," was represented by Col. Thomas Brock of the Ohio National Guard.

Two Congressmen Arrive in Galion For Labor Hearing

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 30 — Weather conditions Wednesday made riding rough for Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R., Michigan, chairman of the special house education and labor subcommittee who flew into Galion from Michigan City, landing about 4:15 p. m., in a twin-engined plane which barely had room to squeeze into Galion's two-by-four airport at the west city limits. In fact, Rep. Hoffman's first words in an interview in his room at Hotel Talbott shortly after his arrival were that "Galion needs a bigger airport for the landing of larger planes." (The Galion-Crestline airport east of the city, has not yet been opened for service.)

Making the trip with Rep. Hoffman from Michigan was his secretary, Helen Boyer of Washington, D. C.

Rep. Walter E. Brehm of Logan, O., representative of the Eleventh Ohio district, and Mrs. Brehm, also arrived in Galion, Wednesday afternoon. Rep. Brehm will assist Congressman Hoffman in a hearing which began at municipal building, here, at 10 a. m. today.

Both congressmen were interviewed at the same time, Wednesday evening at Hotel Talbott. Hoffman said he would express no opinion. "I am going to let facts stand for themselves," he said. "Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion, very much interested in the situation, will also be in Galion and assist in the study of the labor problem," Hoffman said.

Brehm said his coming to Galion had to do with the matter of finding out why men who want to work are being denied that right, referring to the North Electric company where a strike of the United Auto Workers, CIO, has been underway for 10 weeks. Brehm said that he had received many letters from people in Galion who want to go back to work, and had summoned his help.

Referring to the Taft-Hartley law, Brehm said he intended to find out if the law is at fault, and if so, then fix it. Hoffman added "And if it's the people who need fixin', then we'll fix 'em."

Brehm said he couldn't conceive of any American throwing that many people out of work for 10 long weeks. "I am seeking the truth, and who is responsible," he added.

CLEVELANDER HEADS OHIO P.-T.-A. GROUP

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30—Mrs. Keith Weigel of Cleveland is the new president of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Her election, to succeed Mrs. Stanley Emmitt of Talmadge, was announced yesterday at the concluding session of the organization's 42nd annual convention.

She was opposed in the balloting Wednesday by Mrs. George F. Webster of Euclid, entered in the race as an "independent candidate" by a group of women from the Cleveland area.

Mrs. Weigel, who held the office of first vice president, was the only nominee of the nominating committee, while Mrs. Webster, a third vice president, was nominated from the floor.

Mrs. Russell C. Bickel of Columbus, was elected first vice president; Mrs. W. C. Storey of Cincinnati, second vice president and Mrs. Verna Davis of Dayton, third vice president.

Letters from Our Readers

DIDN'T REACH FIRST BASE

Editor of The Star. I attended a recent meeting of the Marion city council and presented a remonstrance about the repeated practice of auto operators in not using safe methods when approaching, waiting at or crossing railroad tracks and especially that of the disregard shown toward the watchmen while he was performing his duty there. I asked for cooperation to lessen this menace to safety with existing laws. If those could be strengthened or new laws passed. I also asked for suggestion.

I made my opening remarks clear but it appeared to me that they were received with feelings of boredom and unconcern. And too, as I felt it was time to confuse the question and me too, remarks were made and questions were asked that were of no relation to my subject. I did not get a chance to run one base, so to speak. After repeated insistence, the law and its operation was explained by the mayor and the solicitor to this extent—it was necessary for the watchman to not only report the license number but in addition be able to identify the operator in order first to enter the complaint. Identification would be proved in subsequent court action.

It is almost a visual impossibility to fully see the operator unless the auto is at stop. In the dark it is a definite impossibility to do so. Therefore the reporting of the license number means nothing. But a contradiction of the above requirements was stated in a case where a commercial vehicle would be involved. Law enforcement officers would have a way of finding out who was the operator.

I did not learn anything helpful by my efforts and feel like an attempt was made to make me out a monkey and set my presentation to naught. But, I did learn that I saw there no gesture of good government from the "city fathers," as they are sometimes called, who are expected to give assistance or at least some promises in cases where even a common citizen is a party.

In opening my remarks I emphasized that I was not urged, ordered nor delegated in behalf of any railroad company nor received any assistance or suggestions from any officials thereof, I personally sponsored the effort, not only for my own welfare, but also for others who earn their daily bread and tax money in those places where the aforementioned menace is allowed to exist.

RESERVE OFFICERS GROUP SHOWS WAR DEAD MOVIE

A film dealing with repatriation of the war dead of World War II was shown to a group of nearest of kin, and friends and representatives of veterans organizations last night at Central Junior High school under sponsorship of the Marion Area chapter of the Reserve Officers association.

Master Sgt. F. L. Keckler and Master Sgt. Richard Garver presented the film and Capt. John H. Deutschlander, chaplain, was narrator. All are from Columbus. Lt. Col. Edward M. Taylor of Columbus, formerly of Marion, accompanied the visitors here. Arrangements for presenting the film were in charge of Lt. Robert Truka of Marion. The film tells the story of how the government serves in returning the war dead and also warns families and next of kin against the practices of racketeers.

30 Marion Catholic Women at Meeting

Approximately 30 members of the Marion Council of the National Council of Catholic Women, attended a one-day meeting of the Columbus Diocesan Council Wednesday in the Neil House at Columbus. The meeting was attended by 1,600 women from the diocese.

Preceding the business sessions the women attended mass in St. Joseph's cathedral. Speakers for the meeting were Mrs. J. W. McCollum, national chairman of the committee on war relief services, and Mrs. Henry Mannix, president of the national council, both of Washington, D. C. Mrs. McCollum talked on "Our Responsibility—Relief or Despair," and Mrs. Mannix, who returned last week from Europe, where she spent some time in Germany and in Rome, where she was received by Pope Pius XII, Mrs. Mannix' subject was "Women at the World's Crossroads." Bishop Michael J. Ready closed the meeting with a talk.

CIO Council President Gives Convention Report

Ellis Oiler, president of the Marion Industrial Union council, CIO, said at a council meeting, Tuesday night that greater unity was achieved at the recent CIO convention in Boston than in any previous convention, "despite the ... impression of disunity ... the nation's press."

Oiler attended the Boston convention, Oct. 13-17 and explained in his report to the Marion council that "Our CIO is a democratic organization and some differences of opinion are to be expected."

The Marion council voted to give full support to Local No. ... of the Transport Workers Union ... atomic energy.

Giant heralds a new era in civilian aviation

FREE! OPEN TO PUBLIC

TOLEDO MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Oct. 31—3:30 to 7 P.M.

Nov. 1—1 to 7 P.M.

Nov. 2—11 A.M. to 7 P.M.

MANSFIELD AIRPORT

Nov. 5—3:30 to 9 P.M.

Here's a look into the future! A complete flying showroom, with meeting room, display shelves, and even a movie projector for demonstration films! Just as Standard Oil pioneered in bringing tires, batteries and accessories to motorists, today Standard brings aviation supplies to private plane owners. "Service to the public" has always been Sohio's goal along the highways—and now Sohio is pioneering that same type of service to the flying public.

The "Sky Merchant" is visiting 800 cities in North and South America to point up the growing need for airport service for private flyers—to make flying the same convenient, everday matter that motoring is now.

A uniquely-redesigned Army C-54, the "Sky Merchant" has a cabin as big as a boxcar. In addition to the showroom facilities, the "Sky Merchant" has its own complete kitchen, crew quarters—and one of the first air to ground telephone radio systems, which provides regular communication with telephones all over the world! It's really worth seeing—try to come!

AUTO TAX CHISELERS FACE ACTION BY U.S.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — A nationwide crackdown on taxchiseling automobile dealers who are making big profits was announced yesterday by Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder.

The chiselers on profits made on sales of used cars that are taken as trade-ins on new automobiles.

Some dealers have refused to sell new cars unless the buyers accept low trade-in prices on their old cars. The old cars have then been sold at exorbitant prices, Snyder's report said. The high profits on used cars have been passed on in some cases to have been overlooked from tax collectors.

The chiseling practice has thus far been discovered in at least one large eastern city. The discovery prompted the bureau to inquire into the industry in all parts of the country as part of its continuing drive against tax chiselers.

ASHLEY LAMB POOL RECEIPTS 438 HEAD

Four hundred and thirty-eight sheep and lambs were consigned through the Ashley Lamb Pool by 23 by 27 farmers in Delaware, Morrow and Marion counties.

The blue grade lambs sold for $25, red grade for $24 and the yellow grade for $22.50.

A total of 1,541 sheep and lambs have been marketed through the five pools held so far in 1947.

The next pool will be on Thursday, Nov. 6, at the Ashley stock yards. Open house has been announced for the Nov. 20 pool which will be of interest to all sheep raisers.

MARTEL P.-T.A. MEETS

The Martel school P.-T.A. held its first meeting of the year Tuesday night, Oct. 21, at the school with Ermine Hissong, acting president, in charge, due to the absence of the president, Richard Dalsinger. Devotions consisting of scripture reading, group singing and prayer were conducted by Edna Loyer. The program was composed of three songs by the first grade, three songs by the fifth and sixth grades, address by Rev. L. Eugene Rush, pastor of the Mt. Gilead Methodist church, an accordion number by Mrs. Ruth Holtsberry, and three songs by the girls' chorus of the school. Refreshments were served following the meeting by a committee composed of Mrs. Ward Sharrock, Mrs. Dale Porter, Mrs. Harry Vollrath and Mrs. Charles Manning.

CALEDONIA CLASS MEETS

Mrs. A. H. Osborne of Caledonia entertained members of the Loyal Women's class of the Caledonia Church of Christ Monday evening at her home. She was assisted by her daughter, Majel. Guests attended in Halloween costume and prizes for the best dressed were awarded to Mrs. Loretta Thompson, Mrs. Ada Reed, Mrs. Nora Hummer, Miss Shirley Guinther and Mrs. Alta Gray. Plans were completed for the election day supper to be served in the church basement Tuesday, Nov. 4. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Melvin Keeran, and Miss Delpha Ross, president, presided. Guests were Miss Shirley Guinther, Mrs. W. B. Shelton and Mrs. Alta Gray.

SERVICES AT MORRAL

Sermon topics for Sunday services of the Morral Methodist church have been announced by the pastor, Rev. J. William Myers. At the morning service the message will be on "Pentecost and the Ordinary," and in the evening, "Everyday Religion."

Byrnes Finds Molotov Expert and Patient in Work of Negotiator

This is a serialization of James F. Byrnes' "Speaking Frankly" —six of fifteen chapters of the book published Oct. 15, 1947, by Harper & Brothers. Copyright, 1947, by Donald S. Russell, trustee of the James F. Byrnes Foundation.

* * *

By JAMES F. BYRNES

THE American people, in their deep and abiding desire for peace, look toward the Soviet Union with many anxious questions in their hearts and minds. The two I have encountered most often are:

What are they like?

What are they after?

Both are good questions. Our ability to acquire some understanding of the leaders and the people of the Soviet Union, and some idea of their objectives will govern to a large extent our success in framing policies that will promote peace.

The best way I can approach the first question is out of my own experience. And the first conclusion clearly indicated by that experience is that Russia's leaders are stubborn and resourceful negotiators.

I have had quite a broad experience in dealing with men. My active practice as trial lawyer was rich with such experience. In my service in the house of representatives and in the senate I served with over 2,000 representatives and nearly 200 senators. I conferred with most of them in the adjustment of differences within each branch and between the two branches of congress. As justice of the supreme court, as director of war mobilization, I met many men with many issues. But through all these years I had no experience that prepared me for negotiating with Mr. Molotov.

I remember once at London one of the newspaper correspondents, first of economic stabilization, and then reluctant to believe that Mr. Molotov would break up the conference rather than meet the views of the rest of us, asked me incredulously:

ONE OF THE FINEST NEWS PORTRAITS of the year was this dual character study of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov (left) and U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, during the big four conference in Paris. The graveness of their negotiations is reflected in the faces of these two men, representing two great nations of conflicting political philosophies.

"But are you certain you have explored every avenue of approach to the problems?"

"My friend," I replied, "I've not only explored every avenue, but I've tried everything I ever learned in the house and senate. But there I worked with a majority rule. This is more like a jury. If you have one stubborn juror, all you can expect is a mistrial."

One of Job's Family

I have often thought that dealing with Mr. Molotov would be good experience for an attorney who represents a corporation constantly being sued for damages, whose task is to play for time in the hope that the complainant will get tired of waiting for a trial and settle for a small part of his claim.

If we are correctly informed about the patience exercised by Job, I am certain Mr. Molotov is one of his lineal descendants. He has unlimited patience as well as a fine mind and tremendous energy. Any exhibition of impatience or bad temper by others gives him amusement. At such times it is interesting to watch his serious, solemn expression as he protests his innocence of any provocation.

Mr. Molotov likes to dicuss questions of procedure. In such discussions he has no equal. He will argue for hours about what subjects should be placed on an agenda. You must not only be patient but also must watch carefully even the manner in which your own proposal is stated. If you do not, you will later spend hours trying to get your complete proposal before the council for discussion. Mr. Moltov's answer will be "nyet," the Russian word for "no," which I heard so often that I almost accept it as part of my own language. He can say in English, "I agree," but so seldom does he agree that his pronunciation isn't very good.

In any conference, with or without the unanimity rule, he will win your reluctant admiration by the resourcefulness he exhibits in his delaying tactics. He will sit through it all imperturbably, stroking his mustache or spinning his pince-nez glasses as he waits for a translation and smoking Russian cigarettes in what seems to be an endless chain.

In one important respect, Mr. Molotov is typical of all Soviet representatives. When they conclude that they have exhausted their bargaining efforts, that further delay will result in no further concessions and they might as well agree, the Russians suffer no embarrassment whatever in changing their position—even if it involves a complete reversal of stands they have maintained for hours on end. As a rule, Mr. Molotov smilingly announces that the Soviet delegation, in order to bring about agreement, desires to make a proposal. He then presents your proposal, which has been the subject of controversy for weeks, with only a few unimportant changes. Having argued the question so long, the other conferees are so anxious to get rid of it that they receive the announcement with pleasure. And frequently they even express appreciation to Mr. Molotov for his doing what he should have done weeks or months before.

Labels Them All

The people of whom Mr. Molotov disapproves are always described as "Fascists." All Communists and Communist sympathizers are "democratic forces." It is a simple classification.

Senators Connally and Vandenberg were never called Facists by Mr. Molotov directly, but the Communist press made up for his oversight. Both of them were characterized as representing the "big interests." Senator Vandenberg was selected by the Communists in Paris as the real representative of the Fascists, but Senator Connally managed to take the lead during the period when he was ably presenting the United States' position on Trieste to the peace conference. The Communist press intimated that, if left alone, I might possibly do the right thing, but these two "Fascist" senators were always at my side to influence me against the "democratic" forces.

When I left Washington for the peace conference, the two senators had to stay there because of some important matters pending in the senate, but they agreed to come to Paris later. I joked with them about getting away from their "evil influence."

After the conference had been in session about a week Molotov charged that the United States and the United Kingdom were violating agreements made in the council of foreign ministers regarding the procedure for the peace conference. Knowing him by that time, I had anticipated that he would make such charges, and in the council I had consumed a lot of time making a record. In that record we reserved the right at all times to vote our view on procedural questions. The charge of bad faith was too much for me. I read the record and made some comments about Mr. Molotov which I disliked greatly having to make. It was the severest criticism I ever made of him. Members of our delegation suggested that I should send for the two "Fascists" who, they said, were peaceful individuals compared to me.

Soviet Delegate Puzzled

After a heated session in Paris one afternoon Chip Bohlen remained behind talking to a member of the Soviet delegation. The Soviet representative said it was impossible for him to understand the Americans. They had a reputation for being good traders and yet Secretary Byrnes for two days had been making speeches about principles—talking, he said, like a professor.

"Why doesn't he stop this talk about principles and get down to business and start trading?" the Soviet representative asked Chip in all sincerity.

Chip attempted most unsuccessfully to explain that there were some questions which, in the opinion of Americans, involved principle and could not be settled by bargaining.

Dealing with Generalissimo Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov are entirely different experiences. Where Molotov is devious, Stalin is direct. But in all my dealings with Stalin, I could not forget a story President Roosevelt had told me in the early days of the war about his communications with Stalin. One day he received a message from Stalin that was very discourteous. He dictated a reply in the same vein, but decided to hold it a day. The next morning, while I was with him, he received a second message from Stalin which was couched in the most courteous language possible and contained assurances of great personal friendship. The president did not understand how such contradictory behavior was possible, but it happened more than once.

Stalin Likes A Joke

When I first observed Stalin at Yalta I also could not understand the President's experience. Stalin was unusually courteous to the president and generally appeared anxious to reach agreement with him. He was always in good humor and enoyed a joke. My favorable impression was not at all impaired when I would see him at an afternoon session beckon to a Red army general who sat back of him and send him out for a cup of tea. I knew a lot of GIs would pay good money to see a man who could order a general to wait on him.

Despite their differences in personality, one can be sure that the aims pursued by Mr. Molotov are those approved by Generalissimo Stalin. Only in the negotiations on reparations at Potsdam, and in the Soviet rejection of the 40-year treaty, have I ever felt that it was Molotov who influenced Stalin. Otherwise, it clearly has been Stalin who has called the tune—and Molotov who has made it last as long as a symphony. How much the Politbureau influences Stalin, I do not know. My guess is that he accepts Politbureau recommendations whenever he has no special interest or strong conviction. Like every successful leader, he recognizes the necessity of holding the support of his associates. However, in any matter affecting foreign relations in which he has strong convictions, I am certain the Politbureau has supported him. I have seen him make so many important decisions promptly that I do not think he worries very much about control by the Politbureau. Stalin and the gentlemen of the Politbureau realize they could not exact blind obedience to their decisions unless they gave the party workers and the people the impression of unity on all important matters.

* * *

What are the Russians after? Mr. Byrnes gives his own answer to this question in the next installment of "Speaking Frankly," to be published tomorrow. He goes back to Karl Marx for his evidence, to the record of czarist Russia, and to the negotiations between Molotov and Ribbentrop in 1939 and 194[illegible]. The problem he reviews is contemporary, but the pattern he sees in it is an old one. Mr. Byrnes reviews in this section of his book the reasons which led him to his policy of firmness and patience toward the Russians.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Sam's a Matrimony Expert

Sam Abernathy never intended to be a matrimony expert, but he hit the nail on the head the other day when he said:

"What marriage really needs is more open minds and a lot fewer open mouths."

Sam may not think much of his missus' choice of hats or her habit of serving watercress and cream cheese salad. But he keeps his mouth shut (I mean, he just uses it to eat the salad). And the missus never criticizes Sam's affection for that worn-out chair before the fire, and his mellow glass of beer and pipe at the end of a long day.

From where I sit, that prescription would apply to most human relationships. Criticism rarely rouses anything but resentment. But an open mind—whether it's applied to a woman's choice of hats, or a husband's preference for a pipe and a moderate glass of beer or two—leads to the conclusion that there's right on both sides.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

STOVE BLAST INJURES EMPLOYE OF RAILWAY

Frank Pheasant of 583 Wood street, section hand of the C. & O. railroad, suffered serious burns yesterday when a small coal stove he had primed with gasoline exploded in his face. He was taken to City Hospital for treatment.

C. & O. officials said that the section gang of which Pheasant is a member had come in for lunch and Pheasant had stopped at the watchman's shanty on West Fairground street to get warm. Apparently to liven up a smoldering fire he tossed a small can of gasoline into the stove, which exploded in his face. Full exient of his injuries has not been determined.

PICCARD PLANS FOR OCEAN PLUNGE SOON

Associated Press Newsfeatures

BRUSSELS, Belgium — Ocean depths of 12,000 feet will be explored for the first time by man if August Piccard completes his "Bathyscaphe" project for which arrangements are nearly complete.

The 63-year-old scientist is the man who rose to 53,000 feet in a free balloon in 1932. Now he is working with Max Cosyns on the Bathyscaphe, a metal globe with three and one-half-inch walls built to withstand pressures of 6,000 pounds per square inch which will be encountered.

He plans to sink it in the Gulf of Guinea off the coast of Africa. The first trip will be unmanned, with devices actuated by pressure designed to return it to the surface. Then Piccard and his fellow scientists will make the trip.

The 40-ton globe is buoyed by a heavy drum filled with light and concrete weights held by oil. For "ballast" there are iron electro-magnets. If the speed of ascent is too great, oil can be released from the drum.

Chemicals will keep the air inside the globe pure and there will be two windows, one looking up and the other down. A dictaphone will avoid waste of time in taking notes. The dark sea depths will be illuminated with powerful searchlights.

One of the windows is removable and will be used for entrance and exit. A short wave radio will keep the scientists in touch with their ship, the Scaldis, a Belgian cargo boat. There will be two motors to propel the globe over the ocean floor. Power will come from batteries.

The Piccard expedition, sponsored by the Belgian National Scientific Research Fund, will include geologists, niologists and naturalists.

Australia possesses an extraordinary variety of birds, including vast flocks of brilliantly colored parrots and cockatoos.

Only 28 ships were built in the United States in 1939, but 1,463 were built in 1944.

DEMOCRATS SETTLE MOST PARTY ISSUES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—The Democratic party as represented by its national committee gave evidence today that it has settled just about everything for its 1948 convention except who is to run for vice president.

At a one-day meeting yesterday, the committee unanimously picked Philadelphia for next summer's nominating conclave and elected in 43-year-old Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island a new national chairman who favors non-partisan action on emergency legislation at the Nov. 17 special session of congress.

The 108-member group also applauded a statement by retiring Chairman Robert E. Hannegan praising President Truman and asserting millions of Americans are calling for him "to stay at the helm." Everyone present appeared to agree that Mr. Truman would be the nominee in his own right next year.

Vice presidential talk was informal and scarce.

Most members said it is too early to think about the No. 2 spot. But names heard include those of Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal, a New Yorker; Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, of Washington state and Connecticut; Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington, and Gov. William Preston Lane Jr., of Maryland.

There undoubtedly will be others, and none present yesterday would venture a guess as to who might have the edge. Mr. Truman is represented as yet to make a choice.

Philadelphia, chosen earlier by the Republican party for its 1948 convention beginning June 21, won the Democratic convention yesterday without opposition. San Francisco had planned to put in a bid, but its representative, Mrs. Edward Heller, gave up in the face of apparently overwhelming sentiment for the Pennsylvania city.

Wonder Drug Used For Plant Ailments

By The United Press

TUCSON, Ariz. — Dr. J. G. Brown of the University of Arizona reports that streptomycin—the latest wonder drug in the fight aginst human elements—has been used successfully to combat plant diseases.

Dr. Brown said that in experiments here, the antibiotic drug has been used satisfactorily in the disinfection of plum and budwood trees without harm to the plants. He added that streptomycin was particularly effective in killing plant germs which cause rot and blackspot.

Thus far, he said, it has been found that the drug will make it possible to grow uninfected nursery stock, even of very susceptible varieties, such as Japanese plum.

PYTHIAN SISTERS IN DISTRICT MEETING

48th Annual Convention in Progress Here.

Pythian Sisters from District No. 4 are holding their 48th annual convention today in the Central Labor Union hall with Mrs. Edith Spidell of Columbus, grand chief, and other grand temple officers as honor guests. Mrs. Maurice Heller of Morral, district deputy is presiding for the sessions and members of Morral Temple No. 429 are hostesses.

The meeting got under way at 1:30 o'clock with the afternoon session devoted to reports, draping of the charter and other business. Mrs. Spidell will inspect the ritualistic work exemplified by a degree team chosen from officers in the district.

Mrs. Heller will be hostess to the grand lodge officers and visiting deputies at a dinner at Turoff's restaurant following the afternoon session.

HEARING ON WAGES IN OHIO CAFES BEGINS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30—Proposed new wage floors for women and minors in the hotel and restaurant business come to the first two public hearings today in the long legal path toward revsion of 10-year-old standards.

The new minima, recommended Aug. 6 by a nine-member board after several stormy sessions, range between 31 and 50 cents, depending on the type of work and the population of the city. The old minima, established in a mandatory order in 1937, ranged from 13.2 to 35 cents.

Although representatives of unions and hotels and restaurants gave testimony in the board's hearings, some new information still may be offered today.

Miss Amanda Thomas, repesenting the OhioCouncil of Retail Merchants, said she planned to suggest changes in the proposed five-cent-an-hour bonus for part-time workers first, to exempt college students earning their way through school waiting on tables or other work in the two industries, and, second, to recognize differing work-week standards in various sections of the state.

NAMED KOREAN CHIEF

By The Associated Press

SEOUL, Oct. 30—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, 48, who commanded the 44th Infantry division in France, was named military governor of southern Korea today. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Archer L. Lerch, who died Sept. 11.

MRS. GEORGES PICOT WIN IN PARIS ELECTION. Here are two of the seven women members of Gen. De Gaulle's party who were elected to the Paris municipal council in the unexpected strong showing of the party at the polls. Mrs. Georges Picot is the wife of a noted French general. Mrs. Becourt-Foch is the granddaughter of the late Marshal Foch, Allied commander-in-chief in World War I. De Gaulle's party polled 38.6 per cent of all ballots cast.

SCIENTISTS, NATURE BOTH "CLAIM" RAIN

By The United Press

BOSTON Oct. 30—Continued showers were forecast for forest fire-ravaged New England today, but the big question was who started the rain in the first place.

Though the region was thankful for the drizzle that reduced the fire menace yesterday, no one could be certain whether to give full credit to nature or some of it to two flying crews of scientific "weathermakers."

The rain, which intermittently showered the danger areas of Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, started hours before scientists sprinkled half a ton of dry ice into clouds from two Army B-17 bombers.

But Vincent J. Schaefer, famed "snowmaker" of the General Electric Co. in Schenectady, N. Y., said he believed the dry ice experiment was successful. He was among a group of GE, Army and Navy experts that carried out the mission —"Project Cirrus."

"The ship in which I rode and the other plane seeded tremendous paths from Montpelier, Vt., to Concord, N. H., Schaefer said. "From what I was able to observe we got most of the results we wanted."

Storm Causes Motorship To Founder Near Manila

By The Associated Press

MANILA, Oct. 30—Towering seas whipped by the winds of a typhoon frustrated attempts today to rescue 26 crewmen and one or more passengers from the stricken motorship FS277, in distress in Butuan bay in the Mindanao sea.

The FS362 reported this afternoon that the 270-ton inter-island freighter was "in a sinking condition very close off shore." Ahead of the distressed vessel lay the rocky cliffs of Mount Tubay, northern Mindanao.

ROUND RED SCHOOL HOUSE HAS INTERESTING HISTORY

By The United Press

BROOKLINE, Vt.—Still standing here is the only round red school house in America—and therein lies a tale.

In 1822 a tall, handsome man who identified himself as Dr. John Wilson appeared in this village and applied for a job as school teacher. Hired immediately, he soon arranged to have built the round red school house which, with five windows, commanded a view of approaches from all directions.

Not until Dr. Wilson died was it learned why he wanted to teach in a school house which provided such excellent visibility. Through certain physical defects, and other clues, Dr. Wilson was identified in death as the notorious Capt. Thunderbolt, a criminal who had escaped from a British prison and sailed for New England.

Capt. Thunderbolt's accomplice in crime, a man known as Lightning; escaped with him and eventually was hanged as a murderer in Boston.

Losses by American farmers because of weeds are estimated at more than $3 billion dollars a year.

ORDERS FOR AUTOS REPORTED GROWING

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—The backlog of orders for passenger cars has increased rather than diminished, General Motors Corp. said today in reporting earnings for the third quarter, and set forth as the only solution to the problem "improvement in the material supply situation."

General Motors reported for the third quarter net income of $75,658,274, equal to $1.65 a common share, compared with $33,816,466 or 71 cents a share for the 1946 period.

Net income for nine months was placed at $213, 217,467, equal to $4.62 a common share, against $14,012,370 or 15 cents a share for the months a year ago when unusual conditions existed with respect to strikes and material shortages.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., board chairman, and C. E. Wilson, president, said in the report to stockholders that income for the first nine months this year did not show as great percentage increase over the comparable prewar 1941 period as did either sales or pay rolls. Sales in 1947 increased in value 48 per cent over 1941, pay rolls 70 per cent and net income 32 per cent.

"Current conditions emphasize the importance of adequate profits that permit not only a reasonable return to stockholders, in which consideration should be given to the depreciated dollar, but also the retention of a suitable proportion of the earnings in the business to maintain it on a sound basis," they said.

"In a period of rapidly rising price levels such as the present it is necessary to have more working capital to carry on day-to-day operations of the business even if physical volume remains the same. More money is also needed to cover the replacement of tools and equipment because of the higher costs now prevailing."

General Motors reported cash on hand Sept. 30 was $376,630,388, compared with $160,143,274 at the end of September last year. Total current assets, including accounts receivable and inventories, were placed at $1,353,711,215 compared with $928,128,784 a year ago.

Clouds, Rain Blanket Large Area of U. S.

By The Associated Press

The sun was in hiding over most sections of the country today as temperatures leveled off to near normal.

Cloudy weather was reported from several areas and rain fell in scattered sections in the last 24 hours. Light rain fell in some parts of Maine where forest fires have spread destruction in the last two weeks. There also were light falls in the Great Lakes region, in the upper Ohio valley, in the northern Rockies and in Washington and Oregon.

The mercury dropped to near normal in Maine and was expected to fall to near normal in parts of the east where daytime temperatures have been in the 70's and 80's for the last several days.

CLEVELAND'S WIDOW DIES

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 — Mrs. Thomas Jex Preston Jr., 83, widow of President Grover Cleveland, whom she married in 1886 in the first presidential marriage in the White House died last night.

The average American eats his weight in salt every 17 years.

BRITISH LABOR WINS BY NARROW MARGIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 30 — Britain's Labor government averted defeat by less than 30 votes on two occasions in the house of commons today—the narrowest margin it has had since the party came to power in August, 1945.

By a count of 184 to 169, the labor majority approved a hotly argued motion to end debate on a controversial government proposal to abolish the slim basic gasoline ration now allowed to British motorists. The Conservative opposition greeted the vote with shouts of "gag" and "resign, resign."

A few moments later the house defeated, 187 to 169, an opposition motion to annul the government order wiping out the basic gasoline ration.

The closeness of the votes was due partly to Labor abstentions, and to the house—the ballot came in the early hours of the morning after a night sitting—which reduced the attendance generally. The Labor party has 394 seats and the Conservatives 190.

These votes followed by only a few hours Winston Churchill's fourth unsuccessful effort to throw the Labor party out of office by adverse parliamentary ballot. The house defeated his attempt last night, 83 to 291. His previous attempts failed, 381 to 197 in 1945; 374 to 198 last April; and 251 to 148 last August.

Hugh Gaitskell, newly appointed minister of fuel and power, said the decision to abolish the basic ration was taken as "an essential step in the balance of payments, to save foreign currency in general and dollars in particular." He said it would mean a saving of 7,500,000 pounds ($30,000,000) in dollars.

U. S. PUTS LAST TOUCHES ON PALESTINE PARTITION

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 30—The American delegation today was putting the final touches to its long-waited proposals on implementing the partition of Palestine into independent Jewish and Arab countries.

Drafted by state department experts after lengthy consultations with Secretary of State George Marshall and his top aides, the plan will be offered to a United Nations partition subcommittee by delegate Herschel V. Johnson.

A spokesman said Johnson would make the speech by the end of the week. Russia, waiting for the United States to show its hand first, was expected to follow immediately with the Soviet version of how partition, if finally voted by the UN, should be enforced.

FEDERAL OFFICERS HURT IN WYANDOT CO. MISHAP

By The Associated Press

BUCYRUS, Oct. 30—[illegible] Marion, Ill. [illegible], 35, and Harold Adam Kosmowski, both of South Bend, Ind., were in city hospitals today with injuries received when they were bounded over a guardrail and overturned into a giant vessel they were taking a prisoner to Washington.

Kosmowski suffered a fractured pelvis. Kosmowski's injuries were not determined.

The prisoner, Raymond Candiano, 37, was held by Sheriff Ben Shaughnessy of Wyandot county pending arrival of another marshal. Officers said Candiano helped Kosmowski from the wrecked car.

Baseball Club Owners Called to Special Parl

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 30—Presid[ent] William Harridge of the Ame[rican] league today called a spe[cial] meeting of the club owners to be held at Cleveland tomorrow to consider the suspension of Lar[ry] O'Connor, general manager of t[he] Chicago White Sox.

The meeting will be held in t[he] Hotel Cleveland starting at 10 a. m., E.S.T.

O'Connor, together with t[he] White Sox, were suspended by Commissioner A. B. Chandler for O'Connor's refusal to pay a $5 fine imposed by Chandler for sign[ing] a player still in high scho[ol].

Harridge said O'Connor wo[uld] attend the meeting to explain a[nd] exhibit his entire correspondence with Chandler over the situa[tion].

MISSION PROGRAM SET TO OPEN SUNDAY

Conference Scheduled at Emmanuel Baptist Church.

The fourth annual missionary conference of Emmanuel Baptist church will be held Nov. 2 to 9, with missionaries from home and foreign fields taking part. First speaker Sunday night will be Israel I. Saxe, representative of a Chicago, Ill., home mission station. Each year, the budget of the church and of the Sunday school has increased for this conference and each service throughout the week will be open to the public, Dr. C. E. Hershey, pastor, announced. It has been the policy of Emmanuel church to increase the missionary budget. The budget for this year is $6,000. At present, the church is supporting missionaries in part or in full two missionaries in Africa, two in South America, two in Alaska, one in Japan, one in a home mission in Chicago, and others in various other home missions.

Sunday night's speaker was reared in Poland and came to America at the age of 18. Three years later, he became interested in Christian work, and attended Wheaton college in Illinois and Taylor university in Indiana. He has been on the staff of the Chicago mission about 30 years. On Monday night, he will present a demonstration of the Passover feast, it was announced.

MARION COUNTY ENTRY PLACES HIGH IN SHOW

Extraordinary Yankee Boy, a Jersey sire from the Maple Lawn Farm's purebred Jersey herd, placed fifth in his class at the All-American Jersey show held at the Ohio State fairgrounds in Columbus last week.

Extraordinary Yankee Boy was shown in the junior yearling class and competed with 15 of the best young Jersey bulls of the United States and Canada.

The Maple Lawn Farm is owned and operated by Newell Davkis and sons and is located two miles northeast of Prospect. The farm has a herd of 35 Jerseys. Extraordinary Yankee Boy and two cows were entered in the Jersey show by the Maple Lawn Farm.

PLANT DROPS 468

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., Oct. 30—Plants in the Warren-Niles district dropped 468 employes from their payrolls between July and September, Louis B. Brink of the Ohio state employment service here reported today. He said most of the layoffs were in iron and steel mills where lack of material forced curtailment.

WILLIAMS WAIVES JURY

By The Associated Press

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Oct. 30—Roger Williams, 33, will face a three-judge court, Nov. 5, on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of Mina Webb Rethwell, 25, of Kenton. Williams waived a trial by jury yesterday after the state tentatively accepted a jury for the trial that opened last Monday.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MAGICIAN TO COURT GHOST OF HOUDINI

By The United Press

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2—Friday night, when the ghosts supposedly strut their stuff, Blackstone, the magician, again will hold vigil over a little padlock, awaiting the ghost of Harry Houdini.

Houdini gave the lock to Blackstone prior to his death in 1926.

"Houdini told me that if it's true that spirits can do physical things as well as communicate with the living, he would return to earth to open this lock, the secret of which only he knew," Blackstone said today.

So Friday night, in his dressing room in a Pittsburgh theater, Blackstone will place the intricate lock on a table, and wait to see what happens. He has invited any Pittsburgh mediums or spiritualists who feel they can lend a beam to try their hand at conversing with Houdini's spirit.

But if the lock isn't opened, Blackstone won't be too disappointed. He's been going through this ritual ever since Houdini's death. It's still locked.

Today Blackstone is one of the few living persons with whom Houdini promised to communicate, if he could. With each, including his wife, now dead, and the late Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, Houdini left certain messages in order that they might check the authenticity of words relayed by a medium.

Thus far, the annual Halloween vigils have been fruitless.

GIFT TO CALEDONIA CHURCH IS DEDICATED

Chimes and an amplifier, presented to the Caledonia Church of Christ by the family of the late Lillie Wirick Hipsher in her memory, were dedicated Sunday afternoon in a ceremony at the church. A large crowd was present to witness the dedication and to hear a program of hymns played on the chimes.

Donating the chimes and amplifier to the church were Oren Hipsher of Caledonia, husband of the late Mrs. Hipsher, and sons, Forest of Caledonia and Miles of Indianapolis, Ind.

Mrs. Lester Mason, church organist, played the prelude, and the invocation was by Rev. W. R. Ellis, pastor of the Galion Church of Christ. Forest Hipsher made the presentation of the gift and the acceptance in behalf of the congregation was by Rev. Melvin Keeran, pastor of the Caledonia church. Rev. R. F. Strickler, pastor of the Kirkpatrick Church of Christ, gave the prayer of dedication. Musical numbers were presented on the program by Miss Evelyn Hipsher and Lloyd Savage, vocalists, Miss Alice Garton, pianist, and Roy Claire, organist, all students at Otterbein college in Westerville.

DINNER AT LARUE

Plans have been completed by the LaRue Methodist church W.S.C.S. for serving dinner election day Tuesday at the American Legion hall. Friday night next week, a meeting of the Happy Home class of the church will be held at the Recreation hall, it was announced.

Smithsonian Institution Has Its Own Controversy Over Short Skirt Hemline

By JANE EADS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON—For years the staid and historically-minded Smithsonian Institution has had a hemline controversy all its own. It was not the long, but the short of it that caused the trouble.

It began when a plaster of paris figure was togged out in a coral evening dress worn by Grace Coolidge in the '20s and placed in a dim and musty corridor along with other White House ladies in their party frocks.

Miss Margaret Brown, assistant director of the historical and costume division of the Institution, will tell you that one out of every 10 visitors voices dismay at the short, irregular hemline of Mrs. Coolidge's reception gown.

"Why preserve that atrocious style for posterity?" they ask.

Apparently Mrs. Coolidge herself didn't care for the style, which nevertheless was a sign of the times as much as George Washington's powdered wig was of his day and ought to be kept for the record.

Mrs. Coolidge Her 1929 Style

Gift To Museum

That gracious lady sent to the museum a couple of years ago a large coral and pink ostrich fan, a string of pearls and a lace handkerchief to relieve the appearance of the costume.

The Institution's costume collection was started in 1909 and boasts some 35 models including a Colonial gown of salmon pink taffeta hand-painted with American flowers and insects worn by Martha Washington.

The costumes, all originals worn by the figures represented, either at inaugural balls or White House receptions, are of elegant fabrics, most of them lavishly embroidered and lace trimmed.

The first inaugural dress to appear in the collection was that worn by Mrs. Andrew Jackson Donelson, niece of President Andrew Jackson, and presented to her by him. Of a faint coppery brocaded silk with an overskirt of shadowy lace, it complemented the young woman's lovely auburn hair.

A First by Mrs. Harding

The white satin gown of Mrs. Warren Harding, with its skirt draped from either side below the knees, was the first to show the feet. The draping was the first suggestion that skirts of those days were getting short.

Among the most beautiful creations in the collection are the gowns of Mrs. James Garfield, Mrs. William Howard Taft, Mrs. John Quincy Adams, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose dress was the most recent addition.

Mrs. Garfield's gown of violet-gray slipper-satin was worn to the inaugural in 1881, which was held at the Smithsonian itself. Mrs. Adams' entire gown is of white satin and tulle trimmed with silver lace. Mrs. Taft's white gown was embroidered in Japan with silver lace. Mrs. Taft's white pattern of golden rod and wheat. Robin's egg blue brocade was used for Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt's gown. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's gown, with a double train and fashioned on queenly lines, is of eggshell satin embroidered in pearls.

Texan's Hobby Grows Into a News Agency

By International News Service

AUSTIN, Tex.—Walter Long is the victim of an overgrown hobby.

Thirty years ago, Long was then—as now—secretary of the Austin chamber of commerce.

Besieged with requests from out-of-town businessmen who wanted to know about pending legislature in the capitol, his position made it a little difficult to say he was busy.

From this grew a unique news agency.

The agency has the smallest circulation of any publication holding a capitol press card, and yet, it does a thorough job of reporting.

Each day of the legislative session, the service sends a report to some 125 newspapers, and trade organizations.

It charts every bill introduced, with a brief outline of the subject matter. It also reports every bill passed, every one reported out of committee, and maintains a card index listing bills by subject matter, author and companion bills in the two houses.

This one-time, one-man job now requires as many as 20 employes in peak times. To paint the full picture sometimes takes three shifts of employes to get the necessary information.

Long is still head of the job but now the service is financed by Texas business men.

Some days as many as 100,000 sheets of mimeograph paper are used.

FARM CLIMATOLOGY NEW STUDY COURSE

By The Associated Press

AMES, Ia.—Iowa State college has just turned out its first class of six graduates in a newly established course in agricultural climatology.

R. E. Buchanan, dean of the graduate school, said five of the six graduates stepped into jobs with the U. S. Weather Bureau but he predicted climatological research would become an increasingly important field of activity.

The sixth graduate, Jose Memoria of Vicosa, Brazil, will resume a teaching career at the Minas Gerais State College of Agriculture in Brazil.

The six students, all of whom were granted master of science degrees at the end of the summer term, were college graduates, had served as military weather officers during the war.

Dean Buchanan explained that an agricultural climatologist is not a weather forecaster in the usual sense. Instead, he studies all aspects of the weather in a given area to help solve agricultural problems. He advises on planting dates, on erosion control, and on whether a new crop may be suitable for production in a given vicinity.

Agricultural experiment stations, large farm management concerns and food processing companies will have increasing employment opportunities for climatologists in the future, Dean Buchanan predicted.

Roving Reports

by Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — A DOG goes around and around in a circle before lying down in a strange sleeping place.

At last I can understand why. He's just trying to make it familiar to him, smooth it down to the old comfort he knew before.

I have been having the same problem getting accustomed to a new apartment.

For seven-and-a-half years Frances and I had a small apartment in Greenwich village. Some friends couldn't understand why we liked a place that lacked many modern conveniences, such as central heating. But it came to have the contour of home, and we found that the cheering warmth of two fireplaces —one burned cannel coal, the other used wood—more than made up for steam heat.

Hal Boyle

Well, the old landlord died and the new owner, a young veteran back from the Pacific, said he'd need our apartment. But he finally turned out to be the kind of landlord you want to write poems about. He said we could take our time about moving, and we did. It took us exactly a year of searching to find another place to live in. Manhattan is still that crowded.

The new apartment has a spare bedroom and a small shower and a lot of other things we had never seen before except in advertisements. It was bright and clean with a wonderful kitchen and was the first modern apartment we had lived in since our marriage 10 years ago.

* * *

BUT FOR DAYS and weeks we missed the little inconveniences of our old home, like you miss the small faults and foibles of an absent friend. We missed the fireplaces, the old wide, dirt-catching floorboards, the friendly mailman who pushed our bell downstairs if he had anything important.

To make up for the lack of fireplaces our new apartment has a great wide window overlooking a patch of the East river, busy all day with foam-lined barges and tugs. And at night from one corner you can catch a glimpse of the needle-topped Chrysler building stabbing at heaven like a phosphorescent sword fish.

Yes, it has compensations. But one of the things that bothered us was that our two antique clocks which worked perfectly in the old place wouldn't function at all in the new apartment. No matter where or how we placed them, they would just tick dismally for a few moments—then stop dead.

"They don't like it here," worried Frances.

* * *

OUR OLD FURNITURE didn't look quite right either. But after we had shifted it around several times it finally came to rest in a way that covers up most the bare places.

So slowly, just like the dog circling his new bed, we have gradually come to have a feeling of being home. The other night Frances met me at the door to announce excitedly:

"One of the clocks is working now. I guess it has decided to stay."

She always talks of clocks and brooms and pictures and other inanimate things as if they were alive and had a will of their own. Now we think the other clock will change its mind soo, too, and go back to ticking off the hours between us and the government's old age pension.

This morning I passed the young daughter of the neighbors over us—a small black-bobbed girl with a gap-toothed grin.

"I know you," she announced gravely. "Can I come down tomorrow night and scare you for Halloween?"

You sure can, honey. I guess we belong in our new place at last.

Catholic Women Urge U. S. Aid for Schools

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30—The Columbus Diocesan Council of Catholic Women today urged federal aid to education for "all children of America without discrimination as to race, color or creed."

"The state which allows the child to subscribe to any religious creed should not proscribe him from benefits common to all when he exercises his right," a resolution adopted during their convention here asserted.

"The individual sent to a Christian school has at least a right to the same bus transportation as the child who goes to a tax supported school," the group was told last night by Bishop Michael J. Ready of Columbus, who later explained that he also believed the youngsters were entitled to the same medical care; namely medical and dental care for the indigent and nurse service for all.

C. AND O. ORDERS 45 LOCOMOTIVES

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30—Chesapeake and Ohio Railway directors, meeting in Cleveland yesterday, authorized purchase of 45 new locomotives and 500 automobile cars at total estimated cost of $19,970,000.

The equipment will be in addition to $6,750,000 of passenger, freight cars and locomotives on order.

Inquiries for bids on the latest equipment authorized will be made in the next few days, the railway said.

Locomotives to be purchased include 15 simple mallet-type mountain locomotives with 2-6-6-6 wheel arrangement, and having 160,000-pound tractive effort and 30 heavy duty steam switching engines.

Automobile cars are to be 50 feet six inches, and equipped with Evans automatic loaders.

PROSPECT MISSION BAND

A meeting of the Junior Mission band of St. Paul Lutheran church at Prospect will be held Saturday afternoon, Rev. Paul E. Doberstein announced. Special services Sunday will include Reformation service at the morning worship hour, and Thankoffering service in the evening. At the morning service, Rev. Doberstein will preach a special sermon, "Two Great and Parallel Reformations." Thankoffering boxes will be returned at the evening service. A brief history of the church's organizations of the church will be presented.

Desserts for Fall Meals

PECAN PIE . . . Grand climax for a company meal . . .

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Conservation - conscious cooks will make the most of stale bread by using it in a variety of ways. One of the most welcome uses will be in desserts, and you won't go wrong if you choose the following end-of-the-meal treats. They offer the extra advantage of combining leftover bread with plentiful fruit.

Almond Prune Betty

¾ cup blanched almonds, 1 cup cooked prunes, 1½ cups chopped cooking apples, 4 cups toasted bread cubes, 1 cup liquid from prunes, ¾ cup water, ¾ cup granulated sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Shred almonds. Measure prunes. Remove pits and cut prunes into small pieces. Place half of toasted bread cubes in buttered casserole or pan (about 1½ quart size), arrange almonds, prunes and apples over bread. Cover with remaining bread cubes. Combine liquids, sugar, salt, spice and butter and boil 2 or 3 minutes. Pour evenly over bread cubes. Bake covered in moderate oven (350 degrees) about an hour.

Peach Bread Pudding

6 canned cling peach halves, 2 eggs, 1 cup evaporated milk, ¾ cup water, ¼ cup granulated sugar, few grains salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, few drops almond extract, 1 cups stale bread cubes.

Drain peaches thoroughly. Place 1 peach half, cut side up, in each of 6 greased custard cups. Beat eggs. Add milk, water, sugar, salt and flavorings, and stir until sugar dissolves. Stir in bread cubes. Pour over peaches. Set cups in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until custard is set (35 to 40 minutes).

A one-crust pie is a good choice for a flour-saving dessert. Try this variation of Pecan Pie when company comes.

Pecan Pie

1 unbaked pie shell, ¼ cup buttered or vitaminized margarine, ½ cup sugar, 3 whole eggs, 1 cup dark corn syrup, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup coarsely chopped pecans, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup whipped cream (optional).

Line pie plate with pie crust (1 cup flour, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cold water). Brush with slightly beaten egg. Cream butter or margarine with sugar. Stir in eggs, syrup, lemon juice and vanilla and mix only until blended. Fold in nuts and turn into crust. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking until filling is set (about 30 minutes). Cool. Garnish with whipped cream if desired.

ANNUAL INSPECTION HELD BY REBEKAHS

Annual inspection of Sosnowski Lodge No. 164, Daughters of Rebekah, was held at a meeting of the lodge Tuesday night in the Odd Fellows hall. Inspecting officer was Mrs. Nellie Martin of Morral, representative of District 29 and a member of Crystal Rock lodge at Morral. The lodge received a score of 100 per cent on the inspection work. Visitors were present from Morral, New Bloomington, and Wayside Rose in Marion. About 67 persons were present.

One candidate for membership was initiated and the charter was draped for Mrs. Mary Coler, who died recently. An announcement was made that Mrs. Ida Longshore and Mrs. Murl Tonguette will receive the declaration of chivalry degree in a ceremony Sunday afternoon in Columbus. The program will be held in the Odd Fellows hall on Goodale street at 2 o'clock, and it will be open to the public. Committee reports were also given. A social hour followed, and refreshments were served in charge of the social committee, Mrs. Martha Dawson, chairman.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIPS

Among twelve Ohio students who have been given one-year Kroger scholarships to the Ohio State university college of agriculture are the following: Robert Steiner, of near Dunkirk, Marcina Wagner and Mae Heckman, both of Kenton, Ruth Little of Fredericktown, and Margaret Harris of Delaware, it was announced today by Dean H. C. Rummell, secretary of the college.

Do you steep it enough ?

Scald a crockery teapot. Put in one teaspoonful of tea or one tea-bag for each person. Add fresh, "bubbling" boiling water. Steep for five minutes. Stir, then serve.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE was such agony in the voice of Olga, exiled queen of Transvania, as she spoke of the treachery of her oldest son, Otto, that for a second I was silent before it, and could not go on with the story that Georges had confided to us.

It was Olga herself who finally broke the silence.

"But I do not understand," she said. "If Otto cannot get back to Transvania, how can his mistress, Laura, go? They always are linked together. She could not possibly be permitted to leave the country if he were kept there."

"It is not planned, I believe," I told her, "that she should go. It appears that she has a friend—a very unusual woman, according to Georges; brilliant, daring, unscrupulous, a past mistress of disguise—on whom Otto and Laura are counting in this matter of the treasure. They believe she can get back to Transvania.

"Oh!" Olga gasped, and the syllable sounded as if she were being slowly strangled. "The secret of the treasure, confided in an utter stranger, not even related, even by unholy ties, to a member of the family! Otto, Otto, how low you have fallen!"

We were all silent for an instant, and then Olga spoke again.

"I suppose that is why Georges is over here—to try to thwart the plans of this woman," she said. "But somehow, I haven't much faith in Georges' ability to cope with a woman like that. He is much more likely—I wish that Pietro could have come himself."

I knew that the sentence she broke off so abruptly would have finished: "more likely to succumb to the woman's wiles." But I put that aside, and concentrated on relieving her fears.

"I fancy Pietro could not be spared over there," I told her. "But I do not think you need worry over Georges' errand. From the minute he landed in this country, he is under orders of my father and will make no move unless directed by the 'Chief' himself."

She leaned back in her chair with a sigh of deep relief.

"That is wonderful news," she said. "I can breathe more easily now. But I can see I have interrupted you. Pray go on with the rest of your story."

"I think you will find it even more exciting than the other," I told her. "In the first place, my father did not dare take Georges to the hideaway in Greenwich village. It is being watched, he thinks, by men who somehow have gotten wind of Georges' coming. So he has taken him to the home of the Underwoods, and tomorrow night I am go to Sag Harbor with him, and with Mr. 'K,' my father's F.B.I. aide. After I have seen that Katie's equilibrium is restored, I am to return here and make arrangements for something which hinges on the consent of both of you."

For a second, blank bewilderment shadowed both faces.

Then Olga's eyes showed pained comprehension.

"I suppose," she said, "that Georges—"

She broke off with an appealing look at me, and again I answered the question she could not bring herself to speak.

"Yes, Olga," I said pityingly, "Georges wishes to marry Olina immediately."

"But," she said, with the same reaction I had experienced, "he cannot take her to Transvania."

"No," I told her, "that is true. But he will be over here sometime, and for a while must stay hidden at Sag Harbor. My father suggested that they be married there, if you were willing.

"I have learned, since I came to America," Olga said, "that it is not the parents who decide such questions. Did Georges send Olina no personnal message about this?"

"Yes, indeed," I told her. "I have a letter from him which he asked me to deliver to her. But if you wish to tell her about this yourself, I will turn the letter over to you."

She shrank back in her chair and put her hand out in protest.

"No, no, dear Madge! On most subjects I am closer to my daughter than anyone else could be. But on the subject of Georges, we are not exactly en rapport. Will you, please, break this news to her, and give her the letter?"

MARION CHURCH GROUP HOLDS RALLY AT URBANA

A rally of the Westminster Fellowship of the Marion Presbytery was held Sunday in Urbana, with more than 200 young people and advisors attending. Sylvia Frew of Marion was elected moderator of Marion Youth Presbytery for the coming year.

Miss Elizabeth Dowding, a student at Ohio State university who was a delegate to the world conference of Christian Youth in Oslo, Norway, was guest speaker.

Four delegates from this presbytery, who attended the National Assembly of Westminster Fellowship, were in charge of the devotional period. They were John Monroe of Galion, Sue Westbrook of Mt. Gilead, Sylvia Frew of Marion, and Edward Riedesel of Galion.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Extension to House

Q. I have a small home in the country that I would like to remodel. Do you know of anyone I could contact who would do it a little at time for me while I am paying for the house and my present one? I am not a rich man.

A. I advise you to look in the columns of small papers in your locality. Usually at least one local group of men is willing to do this type of work. Otherwise, inquire of architects. The Chamber of Commerce, for the names of members in your vicinity.

* * *

Painting Greasy Walls

Q. We painted a pale green with a flat paint. Over the stove I have gotten a lot of grease spots on the wall from frying. Does this have to be removed before repainting, or sandpapered the walls? Would a first coat of shellac keep the spots from coming through?

A. It would be better to remove the grease spots entirely before repainting. You can wash them off by covering with a paste of a soft soap made of turkey corn or cornmeal cooked moistened with a spoon-rest water. Rub the soap on these spots and then wash off the soap with clear water. Let the area dry then repaint. Wash until dry then remove with a soft cloth. Repeat the treatment if necessary. The other walls should be washed with warm water containing a "grease cutter," such as trisodium phosphate and well rinsed. When thoroughly dry, you can apply your enamel. The present flat paint should serve for an undercoater.

* * *

Painting After Tuck-Pointing

Q: We have recently finished tuck-pointing the side wall of our home, and were going to paint the wall a week or so after finishing the job. Our hardware dealer says we should wait for at least a year, claiming that an oil paint will crack and peel if applied now because of the tuck-pointing. He says that a special "water color" paint can be used now. Will you advise?

A: I advise you to use a cement base paint containing a waterproofer. You can get this from a dealer in mason materials. It comes as a powder mixed with water, and can be had in colors as well as white. This paint is intended for masonry.

* * *

White Spots on Floors

Q: There are white spots on our floors which I am sure were caused by dampness. What should be done?

A: I presume that your floors are finished with shellac. If so, sponge the spots by rubbing with a cloth moistened with a spot-remover. Be sure to rub with the grain. You can obscure the spots by rubbing them with a little denatured alcohol. Let the area dry.

ATTENDANCE GAINS AT RELIGION SCHOOL

Dr. Frank Slutz of Dayton Speaks at Epworth.

Substantially increased attendance at the School of Religion and Life for Epworth Methodist church and Methodist churches of Marion county was reported for second session of the school at Epworth church Wednesday night. Three Wednesday nights remain in school schedule Classes, taught by college and conference personnel from Ohio Wesleyan university and Delaware, precede a forum hour at which a specialist in some field related to the general theme of the school, speaks on the succeeding Wednesday nights.

Dr Frank D Slutz of Dayton, lecturer and educator, spoke at this week's forum hour on "Revitalizing Christian Education." His emphasis was on the "dangerous growth of secularism" as opposed to awareness of spiritual values among people today, for which he suggested a "cure". The most important point which he brought out was that "The church school is the real power in any church Families must attend together. When families attend Church school as a group, the result is well adjusted children."

ZIP—ONE STEAK

By The United Press

BOSTON—Steaks are cooked in 50 seconds at one of famed Thompson Spa's restaurants which installed a "Radarange" Lobsters are baked in three minutes by electronic impulses transmitted by a magnetron tube, which is perhaps the most important feature of the "radar stove"

HIGHWAY TOLL AVERAGED

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30—Highway accidents in the United States are taking lives at the rate of one every 15½ minutes, M. R. Darlington Jr., of Washington, managing editor of the inter-industry highway safety committee, told the National Association of Independent Tire Dealers yesterday.

In 1914, the United States placed an embargo on potatoes from all countries to prevent the importation of powdery scab

Treatment Which Relieves Hirs Caused by Penicillin.

Time and time again penicillin has proved its worth as a lifesaver. Unfortunately, however, a few patients who have been given penicillin develop uncomfortable reactions to the drug, merely because they happen to be allergic or sensitive to it. In most cases, the reaction takes the form of hives or, as the doctor calls it, urticaria.

Many forms of treatment for relieving urticaria are used. There are the new drugs called benadryl and pribenzamine and older ones such as epinephrine and ephedrine. Besides drugs, injections of calcium or lime into a vein or vitamin K are sometimes given and all of these things bring a measure of relief. Usually, however, with these forms of treatment several days are needed for the hives to subside enough so that the patient can be comfortable.

In an attempt to give prompt and lasting relief, treatment with nicotinic acid, which is a part of the vitamin B-complex, was attempted. From two to two-and-one-half teaspoonfuls of a solution of nicotinic acid were given by injection into a vein.

Usually after about a teaspoonful of the solution of nicotinic acid has been injected, the patient rather quickly has a sensation of flushing. This begins with a feeling of heat passing up the spine into the neck, face and scalp. Also a prickling sensation and the feeling of warmth occur over the entire body.

In some instances, there may also be a sensation of swelling in the lips. Blood vessels in the arms, neck and face dilate, giving these areas a reddened appearance. These sensations last only a few minutes. However, during this period the injection is stopped. After the flushing begins to disappear, the injection may be continued.

Within a few hours, after the injection of nicotinic acid, the itching produced by the hives begins to clear up, and the hives themselves begin to disappear within a short time. Within 24 hours, the patients are free from the greater part of the urticaria. If not, a second injection may be employed the next day.

It would appear that this form of treatment for hives due to penicillin does give quick and lasting relief in practically all instances. This form of treatment for hives produced by other conditions may also be found of value.

Of course, the fact that the patient may be allergic to the penicillin is no reason why penicillin should not be employed when it is necessary for overcoming infections which do not respond to other forms of treatment. It is true, can cause a great deal of discomfort but the germs which penicillin attacks can rob us of life itself.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. B.: Please tell me why my fingernails keep splitting.

Answer. There is a condition affecting the nails that runs in families and this causes the nails to be very fragile and easily broken. Up to the present time no treatment has been discovered for this condition. Sometimes biotin taken internally is helpful, but this should be taken only under the direction of a physician. The nails should be protected against bruising and injury as much as possible.

Howison's Howitzers Set For Harding Homecoming

Coach Pete Howison's Howitzers will train on Corwin for tomorrow night and the Harding Homecoming fans will be shooting for a bullseye and another Harding victory.

Two big guns will be out of the Prexy lineup—guard Dick Corwin and tackle Jack Hoffman. Corwin will be out of the football picture for the rest of the season with a shin injury and Hoffman will be out for at least two weeks with an ankle injury and a bursted ear drum. He may be ready to go by the time Fremont Ross roars into town Nov. 14.

Sophomore Diez Upton probably will replace Hoffman at right tackle but Howison hasn't decided who will take over the guard slot.

The Presidents will be shooting for their sixth win of the season and another ride on the victory wagon after Ashland punched them off, 29-19, last week.

The light, fast, Circleville Tigers will be seeking No 6 too. They'll try to spring up from a two-game slump which began with a 20-0 shutout by Wilmington and was extended by a 29-13 drubbing by Greenfield last week.

Pre-game festivities start at 7:45 with the crowning of Homecoming Queen Iris Eckels and presentation of pearl necklaces to the queen and her court by Carroll's jewelry store. Miss Eckels will be escorted by fullback Dick Huddle, and her court—Miss Ann McDaniel, Miss Phyllis Badgely, Miss Jackie Gifford and Miss Mary Gruber—will be escorted by gridders Bob Ralston, Jim Coss, Jim Hill and Bob Short.

Jim Coss and Gene Pendon are co-captains for the homecoming tilt. Game time is 8 p. m.

Only one member of the 39-man Texas varsity football squad is from out of the state.

ILLINI TO TRY PASSES AGAINST WOLVERINES

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct 30—The Big Nine champion fighting Illini, back on their feet after losing to Purdue last week, are cooking up a new set of pass plays to use against undefeated Michigan in their cops-down Homecoming game at Champaign next Saturday.

At the same time, the squad has been exploring the inner workings of the Michigan back-laterals, running passes, fullback spinner and T-formation maneuvers.

The game, with the 1947 conference title and a probable Rose Bowl trip at stake for Michigan, is the outstanding Big Nine attraction of the week and almost certain to attract a sellout crowd of 71,119 fans.

In other Western Conference games, Wisconsin invades Northwestern for its first conference engagement in three weeks, Purdue meets Iowa and Indiana and Ohio State battle for last place in the league standings at Columbus. Minnesota entertains Pittsburgh in a non-conference game.

The Hoosiers got bad news that right guard Bob Harrison would not be able to play against Ohio State. The team moved outside for the first time this week and worked against a freeman squad using Buckeye plays.

COLUMBUS GRIDDERS TO PLAY ANGELS HERE

Chippewas Scheduled as Dayton Bombers Fold.

Marion Safety Cub Angels will meet the Columbus Chippewas at the Harding stadium Saturday night instead of the Dayton Bombers as was originally scheduled.

The switch was made necessary after the bombers folded up at mid-season. A game with the Dayton Mercenants was cancelled earlier in the season.

Playing-Coach of the Chippewas is Tom O'Keefe, 220 pound tackle who started his gridiron career with Findlay College, then moved into professional circles with the Cleveland Rams the Cincinnati Bengals, and the Columbus Bulls. Besides plugging up a hole in the line, Coach O'Keefe is a field goal specialist.

The Chippewas have a triple threater in Ted Hand, 170 pound left halfback. Hand runs, passes, and punts.

Another deadly passer is quarterback Chuck Williams, who once played for Dayton University. He also runs.

Fullback "Rocky" Johnson, formerly of Kentucky State Teachers college, carries the mail on plunges.

Center and captain Bob Holtz played for Columbus St. Mary and the Second Marine Division. He weighs in at 175.

Game time is 8 p. m. in the Harding stadium.

BOXER DIES IN RING

By The Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif., Oct 30—James M. Wilander, a 27-year-old sailor from San Diego, Calif., collapsed and died during an amateur boxing bout last night, the seventh fatality of 1947 in United States rings. In addition to the seven American deaths there have been two in Australia and one in Spain this year.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30—Line Coach Dick Luther and backfield tutor Mal Mackey served today as interim coaches until a successor is appointed for Tom Davies, head football coach who was removed yesterday by Western Reserve university's athletic council.

Chandler Pledges Chisox Statement

Suspends Club, Manager, In Signing Of High School Pitcher.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30—Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler's office promised a "statement of facts" today following suspension of the Chicago White Sox and general manager Leslie O'Connor yesterday in a case pivoting on an alleged violation of the national pastime's sign school rule.

O'Connor and the American League club were suspended, Chandler's secretary, Walter Mulbry said, after the general manager refused to remit a $500 fine levied in the signing of 17-year-old George Zoeterman, a Chicago Christian High school pitcher who won't finish his studies at the Lutheran institution until January.

Himself a strict enforcer of baseball law during 24 years as aide to the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, Chandler's predecessor, O'Connor so far has said only that he was suspended from baseball, and doesn't want to talk until he issues a statement later.

Mulory said last night that both O'Connor and the club would be reinstated immediately if the fine was paid, but the White Sox boss indicated he would fight the Chandler edict. The ball club's executive office released a statement, however, terming the suspension an illegal act and an attempt "to coerce the club and Mr. O'Connor in the submission to his (Chandler's) illegal acts."

Signing of Zoeterman, a promising southpaw who hurled in batting practice for the White Sox and made the club's last eastern swing of the 1947 season, was the second time, said the commissioner's office that the Chicago organization had been fined by Chandler. Last March his office reported, the White Sox were fined $500 for a similar complaint involving one George Murphy, a high school student.

As originally drafted by a major league committee of which O'Connor was a member, the high school rule applied only to schools holding membership in the National Federation of High School associations.

Baseball sources claimed the rule never was amended but Mulory said that after its adoption two bulletins were sent to club owners advising them Chandler would interpret the rule as applying "to all high school students."

The suspension, he explained, bars both the club and O'Connor from participating in any of baseball's "transactions and activities," including the major league player draft Nov. 10.

Sox Young Lefty Says 13 Clubs Wanted Him

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 30—George Zoeterman, the 17-year-old left-handed high school pitcher who is the central figure in Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler's action in suspending Leslie M. O'Connor, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, says 13 major league clubs were "interested" in him before he signed a Sox contract.

"I hope the contract difficulty is cleared up," the young southpaw said, "because I'm a Sox fan and I want to pitch in Chicago. I expect to go to Pasadena with the Sox in February."

Zoeterman said he signed the controversial contract last Sept. 6 after receiving a $2,000 bonus from (Red) Ormsby, the White Sox scout. He said he talked to representatives from all of the major league clubs except Washington, Cincinnati and the New York Giants before signing the Sox contract.

LIPPY DOESN'T KNOW; NEITHER DOES RICKEY

Still No Word on Dodger Managerial Post.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Leo Durocher doesn't have the foggiest idea whether he will manage the Brooklyn Dodgers next year, and he doubts whether Branch Rickey, the man who must make the decision, is any better informed.

"Let me put it this way," Leo said with every evidence of candor. "I think I know what Mr. Rickey, down in his heart, would like to do. But I also realize that he has a problem on his hands. We all have problems, including myself."

From this it may be judged that the little boiler-guy has mellowed considerably in exile. He isn't demanding his job back. He merely hopes with a terrible earnestness that he can sit in the Brooklyn dugout again.

Of only one thing Leo is certain. he expects to have another talk with Rickey before he returns to the coast to open up his sporting goods store. He said that the Dodger president, before leaving on a flying trip through the mid-west yesterday, made the appointment.

"Maybe I'll have some news for you then," he said hopefully.

"This much I can say, that Mr. Rickey has a letter from Commissioner Chandler saying that I have served the time of my suspension and that I now am eligible again to be employed by any club in organized baseball."

In conceding that Rickey has a tough decision to make, Leo could have been alluding to a couple of things. First, there is the circumstance that Chandler displayed no warmth to speak of in welcoming the prodigal son back to the family circle.

Second there is the undeniable fact that the Dodgers already have a manager in Burt Shotton and a real good one if his one-year record means anything.

Virginia Tech recorded seven victories without a setback or a tie in 1918.

St. Mary Rested Up For Sunbury Tilt Tomorrow

With a week of rest and hard work behind them, the St. Mary Irish leave tomorrow night for Sunbury and a non-league football game with the Sunbury Tigers.

Irish Coach Gene Fetter has gone light on practice this week, to give his boys a chance to recuperate from the rough St. Mary's-Ridgewood game last Friday night. Seems that every time the Irish meet a Mid-State league opponent they are due to take a week off to rest up. Early, Marysville and Ridgewood have all snapped back at the Irish on their way down. Fortunately for the Irish they've had a non-league game sandwiched in between every league opponent this season.

Sunbury is the sandwich tomorrow night but the Tigers don't figure as easy eating. They've been beaten but twice in eight starts. Jonnsville, Cardington, Delaware Wylie Reserves, Ashley and Centerburg have come out on Tiger games scratched up. Columbus Rosary fought them to a 6-6 standstill and Granville and Mt. Gilead came out on top.

The Mt. Gilead Indians will stomp into Marion Nov. 7 to engage the Irish in the last St. Mary game of the season. The game will give St. Mary the Mid-State championship if they win.

Prospect Cagers Want Basketball Competition

The Prospect Independent basketball league is looking for teams to play on Wednesday evenings, league president Merle Thorn said today.

The league, organized Oct. 1, plans to schedule three games every Wednesday night—two between Prospect teams in the league, and the third between a Prospect All-Star team and some outside team.

Any basketball team desiring to play the Prospect stars should contact league secretary, Ray Roberts.

Games are scheduled to begin the latter part of November.

SPORTS LAUGHS

By The Associated Press

The veteran Boston Red Sox pitcher, Tex Hughson, is a quick man with a gag. At Louisville they still remember the day Tex was slated to pitch against Minneapolis in an exhibition game at the Millers' bandbox ballpark.

Tex put in a late appearance on the field just before the game. Someone asked him why he was so late.

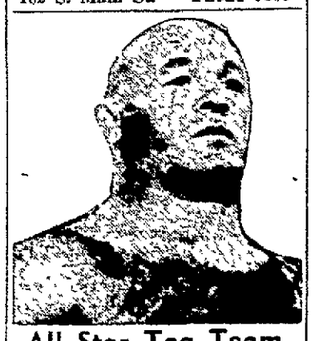
And Hughson replied with a twinkle "I was under the stands sitting in a telephone booth. It makes the park look so much bigger when I come out."

VEECK SEEKS SPENCE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30—President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians reported today on his return here that he had conferred with President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators in "a preliminary conference that may or may not bear fruit."

Veeck is believed still seeking Stan Spence, hard-hitting Washington centerfielder, for whom he dickered last winter.



All Star Tag Team Wrestling Tonight

Tonight's tag team match at the Marion Armory will bring back one of the biggest stars to show here or any other city, Paul Orth, the Tarzan of the mat. Paul has teamed up with Gorilla Pogi (sounds like a page from one of Edgar Rice Burroughs' books) to combat the tactics of the team of Dutch Schultz and Capt. Mike Mihalakis. This combination should outdo anything to date in tag matches, which is over the two-hour route or the best two-out-of-three falls to win.

There will be two 30-minute matches before the team match, Capt. Mike Mihalakis will try to pin back the ears of Gorilla Pogi in the one while Dutch Schultz will try to tame the Tarzan of the mat to city ways in the other.

A special prelim match of 20 minutes has been signed. It's a return match between those two Toledo boys, Bob Curtis and Billy Williams. The first match starts at 8:30 with the same prices—General 75c, Ringside $1, and Kids 50c. Call 2745 after 6 for your best ringside.—Adv.

Chief Engineer Blamed For Island Queen Blast

By The Associated Press

ST LOUIS Oct. 30—An investigator's report today attributed negligence by the chief engineer for an explosion and fire aboard the excursion steamer Island Queen that cost 19 lives last Sept 9 at Pittsburgh, Pa

The report by Capt Ross Willoh was released by the St. Louis Coast Guard office

The Coast Guard said a probe by Captain Willoh, marine inspector and head of an investigating board, disclosed Chief Engineer Fred Dickow of Cincinnati, who was one of the victims, was welding near bunkers containing about 27 000 gallons of fuel oil.

Syracuse's cross-country coach, Bob Grieve, was a former Western Conference sprint champion.

Jim Fiacco, Syracuse guard, was selected for the Pearl Harbor All-Star football team for two years

SHOES HURT FEET. Harold Fox, reserve end on Clarkson Tech's football team, punts with his shoe off—because, he says, "it hurts my foot when I kick with my shoe on Fox booted one 73 yards in the air this season against Norwich U. A sophomore from Ogdensburg, N. Y., Fox has always kicked barefooted. When due to punt he removes his shoe in the huddle and tosses it off the field. After his kick he leaves the game to put his shoe back on.

U.S. STUDIES EASING OF TAXES ON FARMS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct 30—The internal revenue bureau has joined the agriculture department in a search for means to coax stored grain supplies off the farms to ease shortages at home and abroad

George J Schoeneman, internal revenue commissioner, advised Senator Wherry (R-Neb) that the bureau has "under study" a plan to let grain producers apply part of their 1947 receipts on 1948 incomes.

Wherry had informed him that "any number of farmers" are "holding their wheat and other farm products until next year because of the high income taxes"

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson has talked of starting a program of direct federal grain purchased from farmers thus bypassing the regular exchanges and specifying that payments would apply in the 1948 tax year

In making his suggestion to Schoeneman, Wherry said in a letter he had learned that the practice of holding some crops off the market to avoid heavy taxes in any one year is "more or less usual."

LEGION HEARS TALKS ON DEFENSE OF U.S.

Cong. Smith, Harry Shields Address Post.

The meeting of [illegible]-[illegible] post 102, American Legion, was highlighted Tuesday night by the appearance of Congressman Frederick C. Smith and Harry Shields, of Newark, vice chairman of the American Legion National Defense program.

John H Moore, commander of the post, introduced Mr Shields He told of the part the American Legion was taking in the National Defense program Congressman Smith was then introduced He said, "The greatest problem that confronts the United States today is in the way of thinking as introduced by Communists and Communistic ideas which represent a far greater menace to our way of life on the inside than the massing of armies and force against us on the outside"

William Ebers of Newark, department chairman of child welfare, reported that if the defense program is to achieve any measure of success, an additional 1 923,000 members were required immediately by the American Legion A large recruiting drive is now being held the nation over to reach this quota

Other reports given in the meeting were by Commander Moore Earl Caldwell, and James W Llewellyn

Mr Moore's report concerned the activities of the United Veterans Council, a city organization which cooperates on programs for patriotic days Ten dollars was voted by the post as a contribution in aiding the council.

Mr Caldwell reported the organization of a post firing squad to conduct military funerals of all returned war dead Meeting dates were set as each Monday night

Mr Llewellyn reported on the plans and funds available for the veterans' memorial project The amount now in trust in government bonds is $47 000

At the conclusion of the meeting the post charter was draped in memory of a former member, Raymond Burkhard

Ohio Food-Week Plan Wins Luckman's Praise

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30—Congratulations from Charles Luckman, chairman of the national Citizens Food committee, for the Ohio committee's proposal involving economy food "weeks" were acknowledged today by Chairman Joseph B. Hall

Hall said the Ohio group's plan is to take the emphasis off meatless and eggless days, substituting instead "foods of the week" that would include hearts, livers, kidneys and ox-tails, seafood, cheese, potatoes, fresh fruit and vegetables and dried fruits.

The Ohio chairman reported Luckman telegraphed congratulations on the program and its "positive approach to the food conservation problem."

Kerosene lights are still used in some American lighthouses.

New York Stock Quotations

1 O'CLOCK QUOTATIONS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Selling opposition persisted here and there in today's stock market but the general course of leaders was downward.

Dealings, active at the opening with sizable blocks appearing, soon tapered and declines of fractions predominated near midday.

Occasional resistance was shown by U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, International Nickel, Cerro De Pasco and J. C. Penney.

Laggards included General Motors, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Caterpillar Tractor, Boeing, United Aircraft, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Kennecott, Dow Chemical, Owens-Illinois, Philip Morris, Santa Fe, Southern Railway and Texas Co.

ORDINANCE NO. 372

AN ORDINANCE DETERMINING IT NECESSARY TO CONSTRUCT AND OPERATE A COMPLETE MUNICIPAL WATERWORKS PLANT AND SYSTEM IN THE VILLAGE OF CALEDONIA, OHIO, AND DETERMINING THAT CHARGES SHALL BE MADE FOR THE USE THEREOF.

WHEREAS the Village of Caledonia contemplates the construction of a complete waterworks plant and system in said village, including installation of meters and acquisition of real estate necessary thereto, the same being necessary for the public health, safety, welfare and convenience of said village and the inhabitants thereof; and

WHEREAS it is deemed necessary to operate said waterworks plant and system as a public utility;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the Village of Caledonia, Marion County, Ohio, that:

Section 1. It is hereby determined and declared to be necessary and expedient for the public health, safety and welfare to construct and operate as a public utility a complete waterworks plant and system, including the installation of meters and acquisition of real estate necessary thereto; and for that purpose said system, and all extensions and improvements thereof, is hereby declared and established as a public utility for the purpose of supplying the service thereof to said municipality and its inhabitants.

Section 2. In order to pay the cost of such waterworks plant and system above referred to and for the operation, maintenance and repair thereof and all extensions and improvements thereof, there shall be charged and collected rates and charges to be paid to the municipality for the product and services of such waterworks plant and system, by every person, firm or corporation whose premises are served by a connection thereto, such water rates to be hereafter fixed and authorized by the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs pursuant to Section, 3959 of the General Code of Ohio.

Section 3. The maximum cost of said waterworks plant and system is hereby estimated to be in the sum of approximately $125,000 (including estimated discount on mortgage revenue bonds) which shall be financed by the issuance of approximately $75,000 of mortgage revenue bonds of the municipality under Section 12 of Article XVIII of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, which mortgage revenue bonds shall mortgage plant and system and all extensions and improvements thereof and the revenue thereof as security for the payment of said bonds, and shall be further secured by a franchise in accordance with said section of the Constitution; and also by the issuance of special assessment bonds in the amount of approximately $50,000.

Section 4. Said plant and system shall be constructed in accordance with the general plans, specifications, estimates and profiles heretofore submitted to and approved by this council and as the same may hereafter be modified or changed, and in accordance with detailed plans, specifications and estimates as the same may hereafter be adopted by subsequent ordinances of this council.

Section 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed: October 21, 1947.

H. O. Thompson, Mayor.

Chas. A. Kochheiser, Clerk.

Oct.23.30.1947.

CRASH

greatest search for a missing plane was under way.

The crash was the third within a week to shock the nation. Last Friday a United Airlines plane crashed in Bryce Canyon, Utah, carrying 52 persons to their death. Search parties are still hunting for a trace of a Pan American Airways craft that disappeared Sunday with 18 persons aboard en route to Juneau, Alaska.

Snell became governor after serving in the house from 1927 to 1933, when he was elected speaker. He was elected secretary of state in 1934, reelected in 1938 and became governor in 1942 and was reelected by the greatest plurality ever given an Oregon gubernatorial candidate.

Farrell, the youngest secretary of state to hold the Oregon office and often mentioned as a probable successor to Snell, followed a similar political career. He first entered the house in 1935, then became the speaker and was elected secretary of state twice.

Cornett first entered the legislature in 1940 as a state senator and on his reelection in 1944 quickly moved into the top post as senate president. Cornett's home is in Klamath Falls.

THE NIGHT IS TERRIBLE BLACK OUTSIDE - NO MOON OR STARS - NOTHIN' BUT BLACKNESS - SO I CAN'T SEE ANYTHING -
MAYBE I'M GETTIN' KINDA GOOFY, 'CAUSE EVERY NIGHT AFTER I GO TO SLEEP I WAKE UP AN' GET AWFUL SCARED -
'CAUSE, WHEN I WAKE, I THINK I HEAR VOICES - BUT WHEN I GET UP AN' LOOK OUT, EVERYTHING IS AWFUL STILL AN' QUIET - SO I MUST BE DREAMIN' THINGS -
DRY UP AN' LET ME SLEEP - WHEN WE WERE IN THE PEN YOU WERE STIR-CRAZY - NOW YOU'RE GHOST-CRAZY - I'M NOT DEAF, DUMB OR BLIND - IF THERE WAS GHOSTS PARADIN' AROUND HERE, I'D SEE 'EM AN' DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT -

Urge Fire Caution In Halloween Season

This is another series of messages prepared by the fire prevention committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

* * *

Around Halloween time our children and some adults wear clothes in keeping with the custom that aren't fire resistive including face masks. Adults—warn your children of the danger of matches and being close to fireplaces, stoves and furnaces. You owe your loved ones this protection. Also watch Halloween decorations and wiring.

Remember 10,000 people will lose their lives from fire this year and in many cases fire prevention knowledge and material and methods could reduce this loss substantially.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

A Halloween masquerade party was held last week by the Pleasant Township Homemakers club at the Pleasant Township school. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Orla Barks. Miss Mary Fay McMillan announced meetings in the county on preparation and freezing of meats, and a rummage sale to be given for the benefit of county 4-H club work. Prizes for costumes went to Mrs. Albert Herr, Mrs. Paul Cocherl, Mrs. Clarence Kocher and Mrs. Lawrence Shaffer. In charge of entertainment were Mrs. Carl Hoch, Mrs. William Basey, Mrs. Glen Hawk and Mrs. Dale Vanderhoff. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ray Dutt, Mrs. Pauline Bunell, Mrs. Fred Leffler and Mrs. George Seiter.

99 YEARS NO HANDICAP

By The United Press

HOKKAIDO, JAPAN—A 99-year-old Japanese, who said he had "hunted bear all my life," walked 40 miles in two days to register his shotgun and get a permit from the provost marshal here to hunt bear. Rare Hirouchi hiked the 10 miles between his home and Camp Crawford, but the provost marshal was out. Hirouchi returned the next day and got the permit.

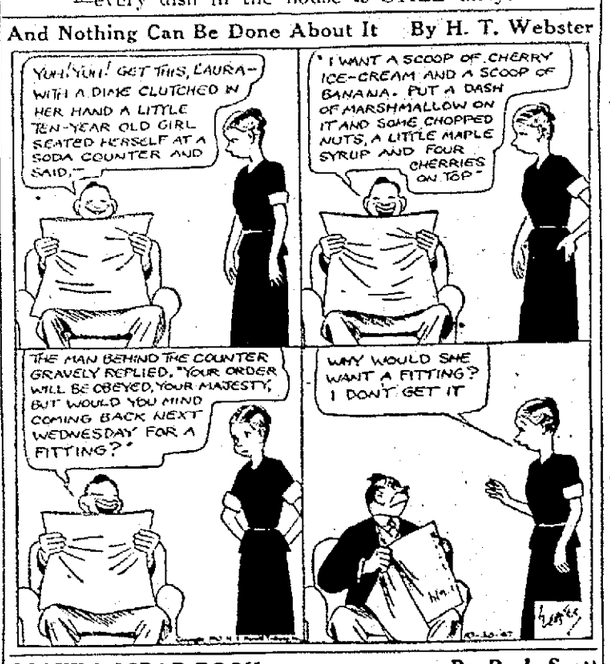
And Nothing Can Be Done About It — By H. T. Webster



YUH-YUH! GET THIS, LAURA— WITH A DIME CLUTCHED IN HER HAND A LITTLE TEN-YEAR OLD GIRL SEATED HERSELF AT A SODA COUNTER AND SAID,—
"I WANT A SCOOP OF CHERRY ICE-CREAM AND A SCOOP OF BANANA. PUT A DASH OF MARSHMALLOW ON IT AND SOME CHOPPED NUTS, A LITTLE MAPLE SYRUP AND FOUR CHERRIES ON TOP"
THE MAN BEHIND THE COUNTER GRAVELY REPLIED, "YOUR ORDER WILL BE OBEYED, YOUR MAJESTY, BUT WOULD YOU MIND COMING BACK NEXT WEDNESDAY FOR A FITTING?"
WHY WOULD SHE WANT A FITTING? I DON'T GET IT

Superman — By Jerry Siegel and Joe Shus

NOW THAT THE POLICE ARE HOLDING JOE'S BACKERS FOR CLARK'S ATTEMPTED MURDER, I OUGHT TO TELL LOIS THAT JOE'S ONLY TRYING TO MARRY HER BECAUSE OF A BET!
MEANWHILE, NEAR THE PLANET BUILDING...
I MISJUDGED YOU, JOE. YOU'RE REALLY PRETTY NICE.
IT'S NOT THAT. I HAD TO TELL YOU. I JUST CAN'T GO THROUGH WITH THIS ACT TRYING TO MARRY YOU BECAUSE OF A BET.
BUT—WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO NOW?
WHO KNOWS? I CAN MARRY DOTTY, THE GI I REALLY LOVE. NO WHEN I EXPECT TO BE KILLED ANY MOMENT
